Chrysler Strikers, Union Officials Ordered to Show Cause Why Injunction Should Not Enact.

(By The Associated Press.)

New outbreaks of violence heightened tension in the fast-moving drama of industrial conflict today. Nearly a score of persons were injured in a clash between police and pickets at the California Packing Corp. plant at Alameda, Calif. In Chicago more taxis were stopped and non-striking drivers pursued and beaten in a dispute that has crippled cab transportation. At the Lancaster, Pa., Iron Works, scene of a strike, a crowd pelted workers with eggs. Injunctive proceedings against Chrysler Motor Corp. strikers gave rise to fear of possible violence at Detroit.

Riot at Alameda

The riot at Alameda, third disturbance there within a week, started when non-union workers tried to pass a line of 200 union warehousemen pickets who have attempted to organize employees. Police released tear gas bombs and firemen shot streams of water at the pickets. Clubs, fists and rocks were brought into play during the melee. Clouds of tear gas forced some nearby residents to evacuate their homes. Two policemen and a picket were seriously injured.

Show Cause Order

Circuit Judge Allan Campbell ordered Chrysler Motor strikers and union officials to show cause Saturday why an injunction should not be issued. The latter retaliated by announcing sit-down strikers would not permit corporation executives to enter Chrysler plants. Approximately 55,000 employees were made idle by the Chrysler strike, which started after the corporation rejected the United Automobile Workers Union demand to be sole bargaining agent for the company's 75,000 workers. A dispute at the Hudson Motor Car Company kept 10,000 idle at Detroit.

No Hudson Negotiations
Negotiations between the union and the Hudson firm ended abruptly last night with a company spokesman saying the representatives had failed to reach an understanding and that the company was ready to resume discussions at any time. Ed Hall, U. A. W. A. second vice-president, said Hudson had rejected the union's demand for exclusive bargaining rights.

The U. A. W. A. called a strike that threw 2,200 workers out of their jobs at the Reo Motor Car Company factory at Lansing, Mich. Union officials said the dispute arose over a "general pay cut" and discharge of 15 men for union activities.

Conferees representing the General Motors Corp. and the U. A. W. A. were near a final agreement on issues pending since the end of the General Motors strike February 11. The negotiations covered wages, seniority rights, hours, piece-work, speed of production and other matters.

Peace at St. Louis
An agreement ended a six-hour sit-down strike at the General Motors Chevrolet-Fisher Body plants at St. Louis. The company agreed to prohibit solicitation of workers for the anti-union United Chevrolet Workers Guild.

At Pittsburgh the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp. announced extension of a general pay increase on March 16 to more than 20,000 office and salary workers. A steering committee of the corporation's employees representatives group turned down a proposal to join the American Federation of Labor in fighting John L. Lewis' committee for industrial organization.

An agreement ended a sit-down strike that kept 450 motorcoaches and freight handlers idle and crippled transportation in an underground freight tunnels at Chicago. Several new strikes started in the city, however.

Strikes For More Pay
Some 260 employees of the Chicago Mail Order Co. were on a sit-down for wage boost. As many, including 176 women, started a sit-down at the Hazard & Marcellus Co. manufacturers of bed springs, while 210, including 40 women, struck at the Andrew Typewriter Co.

In other Chicago strikes 140 were idle at the Continental Cushion Spring Co., 400 at the Dearborn Glass Co. and 222 at the Union Bell Co. Some 1,200 employees of the Hurley Machine Co., makers of washing machines, resumed work under a truce.

Approximately 1,100 office employees were made idle at the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., at Akron. A dispute over collective bargaining caused the shut-down of the plant, throwing 14,000 production workers in Michigan. A strike for higher wages closed

Commission to Meet To Fix Schedule for N. Y. Water Claims

Spier Whitaker, chairman of the Delaware Section 5 Commission, which will hear claims arising out of the taking of lands for the Delaware water works project by the City of New York, has been in communication with the Kingston office of the Law Department of the City of New York to arrange to fix dates for the presentation of claims in Delaware Section 5. He has issued a call for a meeting of the commission on March 22, starting at 1 p. m., to be held at the Commission Hearing Room in the Burgevin Building, 243 Fair street, Kingston, for the purpose of fixing the schedule dates for the hearing of claims.

Chairman Whitaker states that as far as possible the commission will fix dates for hearings which will suit the convenience of claimants and their attorneys.

There are six shaft sites, according to Mr. Whitaker, in Section 5, which the city now owns and has since November 13, 1936.

The damage parcels involved and the owners of damage parcels are as follows:
Shaft 2, Parcels 1109 to 1114, inclusive, owned by Evelyn C. Meagher and Yaml Uchi Land Company.
Shaft 2-a, Parcels 1139 to 1140, inclusive, owned by Dora E. Weiner and George H. Smiley.
Shaft 3, Parcel 1153, owned by Henry Mead, Jr.
Shaft 4, Parcels 1172 to 1173, owned by George and Josephine Canzoneri and Mary Baranski.
Shaft 5, Parcel 1205, owned by James E. Dayton, Jr.
Shaft 5-a, Parcel 1230, owned by Giuseppe Infantone.

Asks Early Disposition
Commissioner Whitaker points out the necessity for an early disposition of these claims, stating that the life of this commission expires on November 13, next. He likewise calls attention to the fact that the sooner claims are presented, the sooner claimants will receive awards for the property which has been taken in these proceedings. In fact the city goal of the New Deal's "repositioning" has already been started on some of the shaft sites.

As the Delaware project expands and as properties are taken there will be less and less opportunity available to the property owners in Section 5 to present their claims and receive their awards. Property owners in Section 5 are fortunate in that the takings in this section are among the first and consequently their claims may be disposed of first if the claims are filed promptly. The aqueduct and the Lackawack dam are only the first portions of the huge water works project to be carried through by the city of New York and as the work extends further up the line additional claims will be filed and the law department of the City of New York will become increasingly busy.

Law on Claims
Under the law, if claims are not filed within a certain time, claimants are not permitted to offer evidence on their own behalf and must be content to accept whatever sums are awarded by the commission.

Chairman Whitaker stated that the commission had adopted a policy of first come, first served. As to assessment parcels, claimants will be heard and claims tried in the order of their presentation. The Corporation Counsel's office in Kingston has informed Mr. Whitaker that the city is now prepared to try these claims at an early date, but as stated before, as the Delaware project expands and the total number of claims to be tried increases, there will be less and less time available to property owners in this section to have their claims heard.

Enclosed Claims
In addition to the actual takings of land for dam sites, flood areas and the shaft sites there will be assessment claims all along the deep underground aqueduct line from the site of the dam to the distribution reservoir. No actual taking of land will be made along the line of the aqueduct, except at shaft sites, for the pipe line will run deep underground and there will be no disturbance of the surface between shaft sites but the city will be required to obtain easements from property owners under whose lands the line runs.

In construction of the Arhokan reservoir the city acquired title to the land along the line and much of the aqueduct was of the cut and cover type running in many places to any depth below the surface. The Delaware project pipe line will run many feet under the surface for its entire length, depending on the contour of the surface lands.

Staples Producers Expect Gold Yield, Big Wheat Season

New York, March 11 (AP)—American farmers and other producers of basic staples envisioned a golden harvest of billions of dollars today as pre-depression prices staged a comeback, under the impetus of a world wide upswing.

The lean years from 1920 to the spring of 1933 when prices skidded to new historical lows faded in memory as the almost uninterrupted rise since last June restores to the Boards of Commodity Markets quotations unseen in eight years.

Metals, rubber, wheat and other big items of trade between town and country, measured in the American dollar, have recouped, in a four year period, the disastrous losses of the depression.

The story is sharply delineated in these prices—$140 a bushel for wheat—14 cent cotton, 16 cent copper—to mention a few. By one yardstick—the Associated Press index of prices for 35 leading commodities—prices have risen 32 per cent since last May, a point a little above 94 per cent of the average price in 1926, freethese proceedings. In fact the city goal of the New Deal's "repositioning" has already been started on some of the shaft sites.

The effect of this rise on the cost of living is being studied closely. Many manufactured goods have been marked up but so far, as some statisticians figure it, mounting payrolls and improvement in the buying power of commodity producers have kept a lap or two in front of retail prices.

Role of Exporter
Chicago, March 11 (AP)—The scramble for the world's dwindling wheat supplies, which has lifted prices to eight-year peaks, gave the American farmer a golden opportunity today to resume the role of exporter this year.

Board of trade specialists predicted that if domestic wheat production in 1937 is as large as the 600,000,000 bushels, expected, vessels once again will be leaving United States wharves bound for Europe with large quantities of grain.

The United States has not been a wheat exporter for many months because the cumulative effect of several seasons of short crops has reduced stocks in this country to the lowest point since 1919.

Flight to New Zealand

New York, March 11 (AP)—Pan-American Airways announced today that within the next three days it will send one of its 32-passenger "Clipper Ships" over a 7,000-mile route from San Francisco to New Zealand, preparatory to establishing a regular passenger and freight service. A crew of six men will take the huge four-motor Sikorsky from the Golden Gate to Auckland, N. Z., with intermediate stops at Honolulu, Kingman Reef and Pago Pago. The first hop to Honolulu of 2,410 miles will be the longest single stretch of the route.

New Bridge Assured

Watertown, N. Y., March 11 (AP)—Awards within ten days of contracts on five low bids calling for $2,011,460.00 to construct a new international toll bridge across the St. Lawrence river were forecast today. William T. Field, advisory engineer to the Thousand Islands Bridge Authority, which opened the bids yesterday, said construction of the span was assured. The bridge will extend from Collins Landing, on the American side of the river west of Alexandria Bay, to Ivy Lea, Ont.

May Have Been Kidnapped

East Tully, N. H., March 11 (AP)—Sheriff Emory B. Monta, investigating the disappearance Saturday of three-year-old Shirley Brooks, daughter of an East Tully farmer, today said there was a possibility the child was kidnapped. As he prepared to search outbuildings within a radius of five miles of the Brooks home, Monta said lack of clues and the fact that no one saw the child after she left the yard of her home led him to believe that she might not have been taken away in the woods.

Chang Foo Lee Found Guilty of Assault in Poisoning Case Today

White Plains, N. Y., March 11 (AP)—Chang Foo Lee, Korean houseman, was convicted today of assault for poisoning Mr. and Mrs. George B. Reeves, relatives of his wealthy employer. A county court jury which deliberated eight and one-quarter hours yesterday and two and one-half hours today after being locked in hotel rooms overnight decided he had no intent to kill.

Chang preserved his impassivity when the verdict was announced at 11:44 and stepped to the clerk's desk to give his "pedigree." He will be sentenced next week and faces five years in jail on each of two counts of second degree assault.

Charles D. Lewis asked the jury be polled as to its verdict in each of the cases of poisoning Mrs. George B. Reeves, niece of Mrs. Ida L. Churchill for whom Chang had worked eight years, and her husband, Indianapolis haberdasher. The decision was unanimous in each case.

Lewis lost his notion that the verdict be set aside as against the weight of evidence.

Judge Gerald Nolan thanked the jury for its service during the trial of nearly five weeks and said the verdict had "given protection to American homes."

Legion Drum Corps Will Cooperate in The Spring Opening

A parade and music by the American Legion Drum Corps will be a feature of the annual Spring Opening and display of the Kingston Uptown Merchants Association, to be held on the evening of Thursday, March 18, according to an announcement made today by James L. Rowe, chairman of the committee.

Chairman Rowe says that the Drum Corps will parade in the uptown section on the evening of March 18, following the unveiling of the store windows at eight o'clock and will also play a number of selections during the time the stores remain open.

The Auto Dealers Association will also be represented at the Spring Opening, members of the association having announced that they will have their new 1937 models on display in the uptown section Thursday night. It is reported that the merchants are taking a good deal of interest in the Spring Opening this year and present indications are that the majority of the stores will participate, with special window displays of the latest in spring merchandise. In addition to carrying stocks of the new goods in their stores, which will be open after eight o'clock, the four set for unveiling the windows.

This opening of the stores for business the night of the Spring Opening and display is also a new idea and will doubtless do much toward adding to the crowds that will visit Kingston's uptown shopping district on this occasion.

U. S. Helpless Due To Court Rift, Says Robert H. Jackson

Present Highland Road Contract Is For Grading Only

Contrary to what had been understood, by some folk at least, the present contract for work on the new road alignment at Highland covers only the work of grading, filling in the numerous hollows and valleys, some of them as much as 35 feet in depth and cutting through hills, along the new right of way and getting things in readiness for laying of pavement later. Further, the paving contract in all likelihood will not be let until December 1, at the earliest, with the work of laying the pavement taken up next year after the roadbed has been allowed to "season" and settle.

These details were brought out at the Wednesday afternoon session of the Highland road condemnation commission, Engineer Charles L. Vogt, of the State Department of Highways, was again on the stand, his testimony occupying the entire afternoon session, which lasted until after 5 o'clock.

Mr. Vogt had testified during the morning session as to construction details on that portion of the road extending from the Fowler property at Highland north, giving the extent of cuts and fills along the entire proposed road, their exact location with reference to properties concerned, etc. This line of testimony was continued in the early part of the afternoon session and was largely technical, of interest mostly to the attorneys concerned in the handling of claims for damages.

Details of more general interest were brought out on questions by Attorney A. J. Cook as Mr. Vogt reached that portion of the road which will run through the Ericksen property, represented by Mr. Cook.

One question on which Mr. Vogt was asked to testify at this time was as to the nature of the "parkway" or "safety strip" which it has been understood will divide the four traffic lanes—a question that has been the subject of frequent discussion at previous hearings and one of the reasons why the appearance of a state department engineer before the commission was requested.

Maps and plans before the commission indicate provisions for such a center strip, with two traffic lanes on each side.

The witness testified that these plans before the commission were official only for the purpose of showing right of way to be secured and for the grading contract, which has been let. They do indicate a segregation strip of some kind in the center and tentative plans for cross-overs at certain intervals, he said, the original intention apparently being to give these cross-overs a width of 20 feet. He repeated that these details might be changed in various respects before final plans for paving were submitted to contractors. Mr. Vogt said that he was not in a position to speak definitely on these matters, particularly as to what would be the nature of the center strip—whether it would be planted to sod, trees and shrubs set out, or what. He added that road building technique improves from year to year and said "I do not believe that anyone could say definitely what would be done a year from now."

The present tendency is to use segregation strips of some kind, dividing traffic lanes, he said. It was at this point in his testimony that Mr. Vogt stated that he felt certain that the paving contract would not be let before December 1 and that the actual work of laying pavement would not be taken up before next year, in order that the new roadbed might have sufficient time to "settle."

The proposed new road from Kingston to West Hurley, which will be mostly over new alignment, was brought into the discussion, when in response to a question by County Attorney Elsworth Mr. Vogt said that he understood that the plans for that road provided for four traffic lanes, but with no provision for a center strip.

The hearing was adjourned at 5:30 o'clock, to be resumed today at 1 p. m., when Mr. Vogt was to appear again before the commission.

Assembly Strike Picking

Albany, March 11 (AP)—Publicity given sit-down strikers was blamed today by Charles A. Brist, Jr., director and principal attorney of the State Educational Law Department for a "wild flurry" of student strikes. "Student parades and demonstrations," he said, "are simply outlets of emotions which probably result from reading too many strike stories and seeing too many pictures of sit-down strikers."

Crowd Road Corn Field

Oakland, Calif., March 11 (AP)—A crowd of 10,000 people gathered on the highway in the vicinity of Oakland's freeway project today as unemployed farmers pleaded for dynamite to be used to clear the land. The crowd, which was led by a man named "Red" who had been arrested for dynamiting a road, was peacefully dispersed.

"Blind Fate Instead of Human Reason" Is Controlling Force of Nation, According to Assistant Attorney General.

6-POINT ARGUMENT

Jackson's Brief Divided Into Sections, One of Which Treats of Division Within Court.

Washington, March 11 (AP)—Robert H. Jackson, assistant attorney general, told the Senate Judiciary committee today that a serious split within the Supreme Court leaves the nation governed by "blind fate instead of by human reason."

Jackson, the administration's second major spokesman in behalf of President Roosevelt's court reorganization proposals, took up where Attorney General Cummings left off yesterday before the committee headed by Chairman Ashurst (D., Ariz.).

Before Jackson started, Senator King (D., Utah) gave notice he wanted to recall Attorney General Cummings.

Presenting his case from a prepared statement upon which he worked until early this morning, Jackson told the committee "the decision of crucial constitutional issues may turn on the death or illness of a single justice."

Convictions Offended

Jackson said a majority of the Supreme Court had demonstrated that the "great objectives" of the Roosevelt administration "offend their deep convictions."

"This frank hostility of these justices has been openly counted on by interested groups to defeat much important legislation," he said. Calling attention to current delays in handing down decisions, the assistant attorney general said the Washington minimum wage act was argued some three months ago.

"While I can only guess at the cause of the delay," he added, "the difficulties apparent in this case lead to the suspicion that the court is badly divided."

"If this split were decisively resolved by the addition of new members," he said, "the court could proceed to make out a less ambitious course for itself and bring about greater harmony within the government."

6-Point Argument

Jackson's argument was divided into six sections, one of which was the division within the court. The others were headed:

Responsibility for the proper functioning of the Supreme Court has been placed by the constitution upon Congress.

Experience with alterations of the size of the court.

Experience with amendments to correct court decisions.

Judicial power over federal legislation is expanding rapidly and assuming nature of a veto.

The federal judicial power is also impairing states' rights.

Under the first heading, Jackson argued that "the Supreme Court can not function without the periodic aid of the Congress."

Discussing past changes in the size of the court, Jackson said "it is just as constitutional to add members to keep the court up with the country as it is to add members to keep the court up with its business."

Listing six changes that had been made in the size of the court in the past, Jackson said each aroused cries of protest and warnings of alarm.

Constitutional Amendments

Turning to the question of constitutional amendments, Jackson said: "I am not urging that amendment method shall not now be tried. But I do point out certain problems which draftsmen and advocates of amendment will need to consider. Experience has shown that it is difficult to amend a constitution to make it say what it already says."

Jackson was subjected to a barrage of questions from committee members.

Senator McCarran (D., Nev.), so far uncommitted on the President's proposal, asked for the addition of six new justices would break down the confidence of the people in the court.

Jackson's emphasis on what he said was a split within the court drew sharp questions from Senator O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.), advocate of a constitutional amendment to require a two-thirds vote of the justices to invalidate laws.

O'Mahoney also asked if the President's bill would succeed in making away the power of the court to override acts of Congress.

"If the desire is to take away directly the courts' authority to overrule Congress, I am sure that some concrete action must be taken," he said.

Senator Van Nuys (D., Cal.) asked if it were not to be before Congress now if there were no decisions against the new deal.

"If it hadn't been for those decisions there would not have been the contention in the courts," Jackson replied.

Ithaca College Has "Stand-up" Strike

Ithaca, March 11 (AP).—Ithaca College students declared themselves the winners today in the first round of a "stand-up" strike for "warmer rooms for physical education classes."

L. N. Freeman, coach of the college football and baseball teams, and teacher, arrived in class to find students standing at their seats with overcoats buttoned to the neck. Freeman called the roll, but the students stood still.

"Assignment for the next class," Freeman began, and stopped as the class still stood.

"There will be no class," the instructor concluded and walked from the room. The students followed.

Noted Metropolitan Opera Star finds Luckies easy on her precious throat—Marjorie Lawrence says:

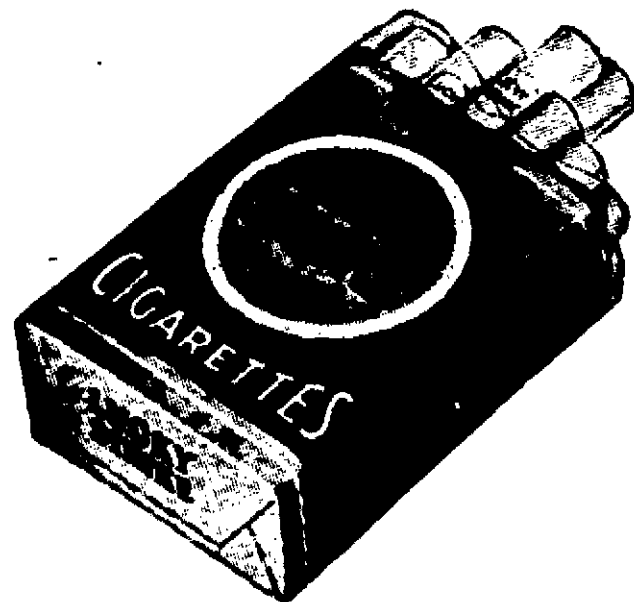

"You must have a big voice to sing Wagner. My favorite role of 'Brunnhilde' in Wagner's 'Götterdämmerung' is a very exacting one. Yet—when I am back in my dressing room after I have finished singing, there is nothing I enjoy more than lighting up a Lucky. It is a light smoke—so gentle—so smooth—that it does not irritate my throat in the least. I agree with the others at the Metropolitan that a light smoke is a wise choice."

K. of C. Communion Breakfast, Sunday

Plans are being rapidly completed for the successful staging of the annual Communion Breakfast of Kingston Council No. 275, Knights of Columbus which will be held on Sunday morning, March 14. This year's Communion and breakfast will be somewhat different from other affairs of this nature because of the fact that it will assume the form of a Knights' Crusade Rally or the culmination of several weeks' efforts on the part of the local Knights to carry out the wishes of the Supreme Council in the nationwide "Knights' Crusade."

Grand Knight Andrew T. Gilday stated this morning that all Catholic men of the city, regardless of whether or not they are members of the Order, are cordially invited to receive Communion with the Knights at the eight o'clock Mass in St. Peter's Church, and also attend the breakfast immediately following in the Governor Clinton Hotel. Through the cooperation of Albert J. Weierich, approximately 50 members of the local postal service and their friends will attend the communion and breakfast in a body. Judging from the number of tickets sold and the interest created by the members, both Grand Knight Gilday and Lecturer Peter J. Halloran anticipate the most successful communion breakfast that the Council has ever held.

LOCAL K. of C. FIVE AT NEWBURGH TONIGHT

Tonight the local K. of C. Basketball team will invade Newburgh for a tussle with the Hill City Knights in Columbus Hall. Last week on the local court Newburgh handed the local basketweavers a 22-20 trimming and confidently look forward to repeating tonight. However, the Kingston Knights anticipate turning the tables this time. Kingston will be represented by Al Planagan, Bill Hanley, Paul Joyce, Newt Belcher, Ray Avery, Bill Kelly, Johnny Barry, Walt Foster, Joe Murphy and Andy Gilday.

St. Peter's Card Party. The Christian Mothers' Society of St. Peter's Church will hold a card party at St. Peter's school hall Wednesday evening, March 17. Games will start at 8:30 o'clock. Refreshments will be served. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Funeral Plans for Gerrit S. Miller

Peterboro, N. Y., March 11.—Plans were made today for the funeral of Gerrit S. Miller, widely-known Holstein cattle breeder, who is credited with founding the first organized football team in the United States.

He died at his home here last night at 92.

A tablet unveiled in Boston Commons in 1923 lists Miller as the founder of the Oneida football team of Boston in 1862.

A grandson of Gerrit Smith, who as a friend of John Brown gave much of his fortune for the abolition of slavery, Miller's death followed an illness aggravated by the burning of his ancestral home on March 3, 1935. The house was built in 1802 by his great-grandfather, Peter Smith, founder of Peterboro, and a partner of John Jacob Astor in the fur business.

Miller was perhaps most widely known as an importer of Holstein-

ONLY COKE HAS ALL THESE ADVANTAGES

- 1 Low cost per ton.
- 2 Gives more heat per ton, because of high fixed carbon content and cellular structure.
- 3 Burns more completely, with less loss of unburned fuel in the ashes.
- 4 Less heat loss to chimney, because of small draft required.
- 5 Easy to tend, because it requires less draft and responds more quickly to changes in draft.
- 6 Ignites more readily, with less time and less kindling necessary to start fire.
- 7 Less ashes to dispose of.
- 8 Maintains steady temperature, because of quick response to drafts.
- 9 Clean.

FARMS AND VILLAGES

Obviously "farm security" is needed as much as industrial security.
 The report on tenant farming submitted to Congress may start serious thinking among people who have never thought of this problem before.

Nearly 200 years ago Oliver Goldsmith wrote his "Deserted Village," presenting a charming picture of life in a rural community of his native Ireland, as he remembered it in his boyhood. By the time he wrote, it was reduced to poverty and emigration, as if a plague had swept over it. Most of Ireland was in the same plight, from bad farming practices, governmental neglect and landlordism. The moral he drew is still remembered:

Ill fares the land, to hastening ills a prey,
 Where wealth accumulates and men decay.
 Princes and lords may flourish or may fade,
 A breath can make them, as a breath has made.
 But a bold peasantry, their country's pride,
 When once destroyed can never be supplied.

Ireland fortunately is now being restored to prosperity and happiness, under wiser laws and practices and the substitution of ownership for tenantry again. But in America, once an agricultural model for the Old World, we have been drifting more and more into the old status of Ireland, with our tenant farms and deserted villages.

Fortunately the federal government, which must lead in any general effort to remedy the evil, is beginning to take hold. The report of a special committee, just submitted to Congress, may be the start of a farm revival leading to better practices and a renewal of widespread ownership. It calls for redemption of both land and people.
 It demands, as the President says,
 "such resources of man-power, money and experience as are available, and such methods as will call forth the co-operative efforts of local, state and federal agencies of government, and of landlords quite as much as tenants."

LIGHT CONSUMER-DIRECTOR.

Stockholders of the Westchester Lighting Company of Westchester county, N. Y., have just elected a woman to the board of directors, acting on the recommendation of officials of the company. "Westchester county is largely a residential community," said the president,
 "and the business of our company is therefore largely with the home.
 For some time we have been looking for an outstanding woman as a member of our board of directors, one who would interpret for us the woman's viewpoint as it affects our business." The woman elected has been active in club and civic affairs and has participated in consumers' movements for lower rates. She is interested also in "problems of women who work for the lighting company."

It remains to be seen whether the new director will change old or establish new policies in her company and how successfully she will carry the consumers' viewpoint into directors' meetings. Perhaps her election is the beginning of a new era of mutual good will and cooperation between two groups hitherto regarded as antagonistic.

NECKLESS AND CARELESS

Invariably automobile accidents are in direct ratio to the number of cars on the highway, declares Motor Vehicle Commissioner Harnett in announcing an increase of 33 per cent in fatal automobile accidents during the month of January. The increase in the motor travel was due to the mild January weather.

With the coming of pleasant outdoor weather there will be a further increase in highway traffic. Will this mean more automobile fatalities?
 Last year the toll was 25,000 lives.
 It is high time operators realized that driving of a motor car is a privilege and not a right. Every automobile is a potentially lethal weapon. Properly used it is one of man's most desirable mechanical servants. Improperly used it is a terrible menace to the lives, health and property of everyone in the area it travels.

It is an undeniable fact that a considerable percentage of the people now driving automobiles should be denied that privilege or forced to undergo a period of training to make them safer, safer car operators.
 Many more seem to be mentally incapable, congenitally incompetent and reckless.

Another point to be given consideration in traffic safety drives is the fact that there are too many cars on the public highways that are not in proper mechanical condition.
 Drivers of these cars never think of having tests made of their brakes, lights, steering wheel, horns, reflectors, tires and other mechanical parts.

At the mercy of these reckless and careless drivers are innocent pedestrians and conscientious operators and occupants of other cars.

That Body

Hours

 HOARSENESS

For a number of years I lectured at a university summer school in which it was necessary to talk from five to seven hours daily. By the end of the first week I found I was quite hoarse and by avoiding talking, except to whisper, from Friday to Monday, and the use of the steam from friar's balsam—tincture of benzoic compound—my voice returned to normal by Monday. Many clergymen conducting two or more services Sunday with perhaps other demands upon their voice, likewise suffer with hoarseness—clergymen's sore throat.
 The fact then that one gets hoarse from overuse of the voice is well known and given little thought. The vocal cords have simply been asked to do too much work, have become inflamed, and the hoarseness means that the inflamed cords do not vibrate properly.

Also when a slight "head" cold extends down to the throat it is not unusual for the vocal cords to become inflamed and hoarseness results.
 Thus hoarseness to most of us does not seem very important.

It comes as a surprise therefore when we read in the Pennsylvania Medical Journal, Harrisburg, that hoarseness may not mean simple tiredness of the vocal cords, or extension of a slight inflammation from a cold in nose and throat. Dr. A. J.
 Wagers, Philadelphia, states "that hoarseness particularly if unaccompanied by pain or a cough, is too often ignored by the patient and sometimes by the physician as well until such time as other and more alarming symptoms appear. Every case of hoarseness does not mean the presence of a serious or dangerous ailment, but no matter how trivial the appearance of hoarseness may seem, it should be regarded seriously.
 In all cases a careful and complete history should be taken followed by inspection of throat and chest including the use of X-ray, and a blood test. Frequently hoarseness or some other voice change is one of the first signs of pulmonary tuberculosis.
 Hoarseness may be the first symptom of a dangerous growth in the throat."

After giving this warning that every case of hoarseness should be investigated, Dr. Wagers states that cases of simple catarrhal inflammation of the throat and vocal cords is often seen. The attacks of hoar-ness usually do not last long and are due to simple causes. With the removal of the cause, hoarseness quickly disappears in most instances.
 The simple chronic form of laryngitis with hoarseness is usually produced by long continued use or abuse of the voice.

EVE'S ORCHARD

By MARGARET WIDDEMER

SYNOPSIS: Eve Mannersfeld goes back to her two-century-old farmhouse and orchard in Connecticut after five years of work and play in New York. Quiet, practical George Cleveland, a young fruit experimenter who owns the nearby Seymour house, and Uncle Henry, an old family friend, help her clean and move the fine old antiques down from the attic. A few days later she is entertaining George's mother, who of late when Denny, Eve's gay, slim fiance, suddenly arrives from the city, Eve had been hoping he would.

Chapter 13

Denny's Faux Pas

DENNY stopped short on seeing the others.

"Why, Mrs. Cleveland!" Denny was at his most charming. Eve thought fondly, as he set down his burdens and came, with a side smile to Eve, courteously toward the older woman.
 "And George! Why, it's the gathering of the clans. How did you two manage to stray so far from Park avenue—drive out?"

As they answered him he sat down easily, and reached for a cake.

"I'm staying the weekend with you,
 Eve. I brought a fat suitcase and a hat I'm sure you didn't know was in the to a complete sentence. George in the background might have been a well-groomed statue. As for Denny, given time by Uncle Henry's long speech, his flush faded, said winningly:

 "Thanks a lot, sir. As a matter of fact I was going to trespass on the well-known hospitality. And another of us is bound to turn up this evening too. Ellen Walton. We're rather awful drop-ins in Mrs. Cleveland's."

He turned and smiled impudently, charmingly at the lady, and she slowly greeted back to approval, began to talk rather fast about antiques and the beauties of Connecticut scenery. She did not persist in her inquiry. Presently Denny was talking too, but pleasantly, flatteringly, airily, till the lady was herself again. Apparently Eve's gay phrase about marrying Denny was simply a bad joke so far as everyone else was concerned. Eve sat mechanically pouring and drinking tea, there by the leading Mrs. with her guests about her. She felt sick and numb.

'It's The Real Life'

GEORGE was talking to her when she became conscious of what anyone said. The others were not on the trail of possible antiques. Uncle Henry, naturally, knew a lot about which people had them.

George was leaning easily by the fireplace, pipe between his fingers.
 She must have asked some question,
 for he was saying: "That's the trouble.
 I like this life too much. My people can't understand it."

Denny sat down easily and reached for a cake. "I'm staying the weekend with you, Eve."

depths of the chifforier I'm storing for you."

"This young man?" Uncle Henry asked in a voice he supposed was low as Mrs. Cleveland sat back, more horrified than she had been when talking of modern morals or bad servants.

"Sitting over the weekend alone
 in this house with Miss Mannersfeld, Mr. Carter?" she said. "Surely you are joking. I didn't even know you two were friends."

Denny was apparently having one of his spells of not knowing what to say first. Eve interposed. She knew country neighborhoods and Mrs.
 Cleveland's sort. There was just one thing to say Denny had wanted her to tell the people out here, anyway.

"Oh, we know each other so well that we may even go so far as getting married one of these days," she said lightly, proudly. She expected to see George's mother beam conventionally.
 Instead, she stiffened and darkened still more.

"Mr. Carter gave me to understand it was quite another lady he was going to marry," she said; and waited for the reply to her bombshell.

Still amused, Eve glanced across at Denny. He did not speak. He did not even move or smile.

Uncle Henry Saved The Day

IT WAS Uncle Henry's slow voice that broke the silence. He stood there, stooped and grizzled and easy, in his sweater and overalls, and said:
 "Well, I agree with you that Evelina shouldn't be staying here alone, but you were sort of jumping to conclusions, Mrs. Cleveland. I'm staying with her myself till one of her girl friends comes out. But I'm not sure whether Denny here is planning on staying with us or was just joshing.
 He's welcome—there's lots of room, and the Mannersfelds always liked company. How about it son?"

Uncle Henry's words were as always unhurried. Uncle Henry's face was about as expressive as it ever was, which is saying nothing at all.
 But under the impact of his words
 Mrs. Cleveland, the type which will bully men or be bullied by them, was cowed and began twittering various things none of which amounted

TALKS TO PARENTS

Facing Life

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH

The man or woman who takes life as an adventure and lives it consciously and fully is the one who has a happy life. Parents who take this attitude toward life can pass it on to their children.
 Have given them a better heritage than a fortune in gold.

Adaptability to circumstances, the ability to make victory out of defeat, a serene acceptance of the rough with the smooth as a necessary part of the material of living, make for health and happiness.

The world owes nothing to anyone. To bring children up with the idea that it does, distorts their point of view. One gets out of life just as much as one puts into it, and if one is very out-going and puts in a great deal, there is something a bit of profit in the form of love and devotion.

There are countless silling, embittered men and women who find life a disappointment. They wish they had never been born. Nothing is what they were led to believe it would be. But what does life itself promise anyone? Nothing at all. It is the parents who hold out false promises for the future, and bring up their children to expect a livelihood and happiness to be handed to them on a platter. When these promises are unfulfilled, the children accuse life, the world, existing conditions, of having deceived and wronged them.

It is not entirely the children's fault. They were never taught to meet life half-way, to accept what comes and make the best of it. The object of life is not happiness but living, and living means a kaleidoscopic flow of episodes and experiences of every kind.

Every situation faces is generally training for another. Only by a serene and courageous facing of adversity as well as good fortune does one get the best out of life.

Mrs. Quacko Visits
 By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

MRS. QUACKO had gone down to call on Mrs. Quacker.

"My dear," she began, "I really shouldn't come and see you when it has been so long since you've called on me.
 But I always say that between friends there shouldn't be all these stiff ways."

"So I ran down to say 'Hello' and to see how you were feeling.
 You are still well?"

"Thank you, my duck health is quite good," said Mrs. Quacker.
 Mrs. Quacko could not keep her news to herself any longer.

"I am of no account, I do not amount to anything," she began.
 "Oh, I wouldn't say that about yourself," quacked Mrs. Quacker.

"You don't agree with me?"
 "I didn't say that I didn't agree with you," answered Mrs. Quacker.
 "But I said you shouldn't talk about yourself in such a manner.
 If you don't speak well of yourself it might be hard on you."

"Do you mean to suggest, Mrs.
 Quacker, that I haven't any friends? Do you know I've had my picture in the paper?"

"Does that mean you have friends, quack, quack?"

"It means I'm important," quacked Mrs. Quacko. "But I can see you are in no mood for quack-ing talk. You're a jealous duck."
 "Now I'm proud to live with such creatures as a crow who discovers a house on a mountain top that no one else has discovered.
 I'm satisfied to know a man like Willy Nilly who can bring a lost son to his father and a lost father to his son."

"What's that? What's that?"
 quacked Mrs. Quacker.

A Washington Daybook

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON — President
 W. Roosevelt left no doubt in his opening series on the Supreme Court that he can hit as hard as his enemies have said—which seems now hard enough.

Even before he turned his fire directly on the Supreme Court it was well nigh impossible to find in Washington any deep doubt that he would get what he wanted in the way of authority to appoint new members to the body.

If any Democratic members of congress questioned it, they need no longer doubt that the President intends to measure their loyalty to the Democratic party by the measure of their support for his Supreme Court proposal.

Neat Argument

IT FELL to lesser lights in the administration to hammer out one of the latest weapons of argument the President used. Reduced to its simplest terms it is: The louder they howl, the more they need the cure.

As refined by the President it came out thus:

"This new roar (against the court plan) is the best evidence in the world that we have begun to keep our promises, that we have begun to move against conditions under which one-third of the nation is still ill-nourished, ill-clad, ill-housed."

Wilson's Battle

PROSPECTS that the court battle, regardless of Presidential urgency, will last a long summer recalls another battle by another Democratic president over another important issue that lasted through a long summer 24 years ago—and the President won.

In his first year President Wilson put forward the federal reserve proposal and thereby brought upon himself a mass of accusations that he was seeking to give the federal government a strangle hold on the nation's financial agencies.

Except for an occasional hurried and worried trip to Maine for a week-end with his family, Wilson stayed in Washington through a hot summer and weary fall and kept congress here also sweating in chambers devoid of air conditioning.

Roosevelt follows a different course. He would not postpone his usual early spring trip to his "other home" in Warm Springs, Ga. And even before leaving he was making plans for a fishing trip among the fresh water shallows in the Gulf of Mexico.

He has come to the conclusion that the health of the President of the United States is a valuable public property.

Heart Attack Fatal To Divine Follower

Solomon Leviathan, one of Father Divine's negro followers at his High Falls Mission, died very suddenly at the Mission following a bath. The negro was one of the men quartered at the Divine Mission dormitory and had just taken a bath and returned to his bed when some of the other occupants of the Mission noticed that he had ceased to breathe.

Dr. Shea of Stone Ridge was summoned but the man was dead when the doctor arrived. Coroner Howard B. Humiston of Kerhonkson was notified and made an investigation. It is presumed the negro's heart was not strong and the effects of the hot bath brought on a heart attack which resulted in his death.

The verdict of Coroner Humiston was death from a heart attack after a bath.

The body was taken in charge by Coroner Humiston at the request of the Mission officials and removed to his undertaking parlors in Kerhonkson. The Mission also made arrangements for interment in the Lounsbury Cemetery at Stone Ridge at 9 o'clock Friday.

A rumor which quickly spread about town was that one of the Divine followers had died at the High Falls Mission and had been buried in the backyard of the Mission at 3 o'clock this morning without the formality of a funeral service. This rumor was exploded by the facts as ascertained from Coroner Humiston who took charge of the case.

Jew's Harp Long in Use

Throughout All Europe

The Jew's harp is a small musical instrument, known for centuries all over Europe and sometimes called "Jew's trump." Attempts have been made to derive "Jew's" from "jaws" or "jeu" (game, amusement, or play), but, though there is no apparent reason for associating the instrument with the Jews, it is certain that "Jew's" is the original form, says a writer in the Indianapolis News.

The instrument consists of a slender tongue of steel riveted at one end of the base of a pear-shaped steel frame; the other end of the tongue being left free so that it can be set in vibration by the player, while firmly pressing the branches of the frame against his teeth.

At the beginning of the Nineteenth century Heinrich Scheibler, in Germany, achieved astonishing effects by employing a number of Jew's harps combined in one instrument which he called an aura. Another German virtuoso, Eulenstein, a native of Wurtemberg, created a sensation in London in 1827 by playing on no fewer than sixteen of the instruments. In 1828 Sir Charles Wheatstone published an essay on the acoustics of the Jew's harp in the Quarterly Journal of Science.

Search for the True Cross

The cross did not become the symbol of Christianity until the Fourth century. The true cross is said to have been found during the reign of Tiberius when St. James was the bishop of Jerusalem. We have all heard of the finding of the three crosses by the Empress Helena in 328, says a writer in Pearson's London Weekly. It is mentioned that she did not know which was the true cross. To determine which was the true one she had the body of a dead man placed on one of the crosses. Contact with it had no effect upon him, so he was placed on the second cross with the same result. When he was laid on the third cross he immediately came to life. We are told she sent part of the true cross to Constantinople and part to Rome, where it is still preserved. The rest was buried in the church which she had built over the site of Golgotha.

Croesus Famous for Wealth

Croesus, who lived from 560 to 546 B. C., and who was famous in antiquity for his great wealth, was king of Lydia, in Asia Minor. According to tradition, his wealth was principally obtained from the golden sands of the River Pactolus, which flowed through his dominions. The true source of his riches was probably the industry of his people, who were not only great producers but great traders. There is no record of the extent of his wealth, but there is some account of his landed properties, from which an ingenious archeologist has estimated them to have been worth between $8,000,000 and $9,000,000.

Tibet's Tea-Drinkers

The natives of Tibet are the heaviest tea drinkers in the world, states a writer. The average is about 40 cups per day for each Tibetan. There is a queer mixture, for they add salt, butter and soda to their tea. After churning all these ingredients together, they drink the brew with unmistakable relish. The world's largest tea bush, at Badulla, Ceylon, is 24 feet in diameter and 67 feet in circumference.

Ophir, a Seaport

Ophir was a seaport or region from which the Hebrews in the time of Solomon obtained gold. The precise geographical situation has long been a subject of doubt and discussion. It was probably in India or perhaps southern Arabia; at any rate, it appears from Scripture mention of the place that it was accessible by water from the town on the Red Sea.

Fish, rather than durability, is an important factor in establishing the value of silk dress fabrics, a survey of textile experts of the National Bureau of Standards indicates.

U. S. Helpless Due To Court Rift

over recommended an increase in the size of the court in his reports. "That was never in my province," the lawyer replied. "I frequently discussed it with my superiors."

The assistant attorney general emphasized that he was not opposed to a constitutional amendment but said he did not want to delay the bill to obtain one.

"Is there anything in this bill to hinder or prevent or interfere with the adoption of an amendment?" Senator Hatch (U. S. M.) asked.

"Nothing," Jackson replied. "Questioned by Senator Austin, the witness said the Supreme Court had exercised its discretion 'judicially' on applications for certiorari but it had refused cases involving the constitutionality of the Social Security Act on which the government was anxious to obtain a decision.

Senator Connally asked if the bill would not fall if the six new judges turned out "wrong."

"No, I don't take that view," Jackson replied. "I'm willing to take adverse decisions from open minded judges anytime."

"But your motive is that this court doesn't construe the constitution as you believe it should be construed," Connally insisted.

"If we get six new men," Jackson replied, "one of two things happens. Either they construe the constitution as I think it should be, or I know the cases have been decided by fair-minded men who have decided I am wrong."

Ashurst recessed the session until tomorrow, with an announcement that under a switch of plans John Patrick Devaney, who recently retired from the Minnesota Supreme Court to head the new Lawyers Guild, would testify.

High-Prized Fuel

When Thomas Carlyle had completed, after three years' work, the first volume of his classic history of the French Revolution, he sent it to John Stuart Mill to read. Mill's housekeeper, looking for waste paper with which to start a winter fire, picked up the manuscript and used it to get her blaze going. Carlyle had no copy or notes, and had to do the entire job all over again.

Too Proud to Fight

Some of the old Romans were at times too proud to fight. Cato, being scuriously addressed by a low and vicious fellow, quietly said to him: "A contest between us is very unequal, for thou canst bear it with pleasure, but to me it is unusual to hear and disagreeable to speak."

British motorcycle manufacturers have assured the Minister of Transport that no motorcycles making a noise "which could be described as offensive" will be sold to the public.

Grant Motion to Consolidate Cases

A motion for consolidation of Nos. 145 and 146, Jacob M. Grob and Edward T. McGill against Samuel S. Levinson and George Rogers and David Roth, was made in Supreme Court this morning and Justice Schirck granted the motion. Both cases involve the question of who shall pay for goods sold and delivered.

Plaintiffs bring action against all three defendants for merchandise sold to Levinson's Bakery which was operated in this city between the fall of 1933 and January of 1935. The question is whether the bills were contracted by the parties as individuals or as partners and whether Mr. Levinson and the other two defendants are equally responsible for the bills or not.

Mr. Levinson was the first witness called. He testified that in the fall of 1933 Mr. Rogers came to him in Newburgh and asked him to go into the bakery business in Kingston. At the time he said Mr. Rogers said he was unable to enter business because of a contract with the New York Bakery and another which prohibited him entering the bakery business in Kingston. Levinson said he was a clerk in his father's produce market and knew nothing of the bakery business. However, he came to Kingston and went into the business. He was to sell on the road and do the outside work and Mr. Rogers was to have charge of the inside work. At the time Mr. Rogers put in the business some $3,700 in money but later Mr. Levinson said he had put in some money in order to meet bills.

The bakery business was continued until January, 1935, when Levinson said he withdrew and Rogers continued to operate the business which had been moved to Sycamore street. When the business was taken over by Rogers, the witness said bills due were to be taken care of by Rogers who was also to collect accounts due.

Arthur B. Ewig appears for plaintiffs and Daniel Hoffman appears for George Rogers and David Roth, defendants. Mr. Levinson, the third defendant, was not represented by counsel.

Considerable testimony was taken by plaintiff from the witness Levinson to show the agreements which had existed between Levinson and Rogers prior to the time Levinson withdrew from the business in 1935.

Ginger Rogers Hands
Brian Bell, 10, A Scoop

BOY MEETS STAR

Ten-year-old Brian Bell, Jr., decided after interviewing Ginger Rogers that she "looks the same, if not prettier," off the screen.

(First in a Series)

Starting early in the footsteps of his dad, who is western division news editor of The Associated Press, 10-year-old Brian Bell, Jr., dropped in on his favorite movie stars and in a series of three articles, tells what he thinks after seeing them in person. The first, which follows, concerns Ginger Rogers.

By BRIAN BELL, JR.

Hollywood—The normal movie fan assumes that the stars look different in person than on the screen but in my opinion this is not true about Miss Ginger Rogers. She looks the same in person as she does in pictures if not prettier.

I not only talked to Miss Rogers but had my picture taken with her and if I am not very clear in reporting what she said it will be because my heart was in my mouth half the time. Meeting a movie star is exciting.

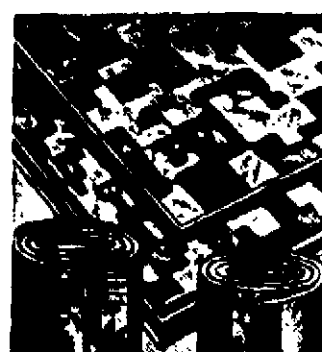

I wanted to know how she learned to dance so that was my first question. "I never did," she said. "I just picked it up."

"Like a boy just whistles!" I asked.

Hurts Her Finger
She told me about "Dancing Shoes," her new picture where she and Mr. Astaire dance on roller skates. She said that neither she nor Mr. Astaire had had on roller skates

Rebels Announce Cantabrico Sunk; French Give Notice

Salamanca, Spain, March 11 (AP)—The insurgent Spanish regime officially announced today that the government munitions freighter Mar Cantabrico had been sunk, contrary to previous assertions it had fallen a prize of war to insurgent warships.

No details were given in the terse announcement. The vessel carried more than $2,700,000 worth of munitions from New York and Vera Cruz, Mexico, to the aid of the Valencia government.

(The Mar Cantabrico previously was reported to have been taken to Ferrol, fortified harbor port on the northwest tip of Spain, after being shelled and captured by the cruiser Canarias while attempting to run the insurgent blockade.)

It was not known whether the insurgents had removed the huge cargo of war stores and then scuttled the freighter or whether it had sunk en route to Ferrol in contradiction to the report of its arrival.

French Warning
Brest, France, March 11 (AP)—An implicit warning to insurgent Spain to keep naval warfare out of French territorial waters was backed up by France today with stringent orders to her navy and air force, placing the units of the west and south coasts on an uninterrupted duty status after four attacks by Spanish warships in the international shipping lanes.

French vessels were commanded to defend the lanes bordering France from invasion and watch constantly for belligerent vessels until the international control cordon was erected.

The rapidly with which the French navy acted to aid the Spanish government freighter Conde de Zurbia yesterday when an insurgent warship made a daring attack within sight of the French coast was taken as evidence of French determination "to force respect for French waters."

Officials launched an immediate investigation to determine whether the shelling occurred within the three-mile limit.

The armed insurgent trawler surprised the freighter in the very center of the ship lane off the island of Ouessant where international shipping rounds the coast of Brittany, 250 miles from Spain.

Sailors declared "only pure chance" saved neutral vessels from being within range of the 20 to 50 shells the warship fired before fleeing before the approach of French seaplanes and a sloop.

Observers said that warships, trawlers, planes and floating mines of both sides in the civil conflict had imperiled international shipping in and near Spanish waters.

(The Dutch government ordered its 6,670-ton cruiser Java to Spanish waters to protect Dutch shipping after insurgents were reported to have seized two Dutch steamers and forced them to discharge their cargo at an insurgent port.)

Big Push Is On
Soria, Spain, March 11 (AP)—Insurgents swarming along both sides of the Aragon-Guadalajara highway in a big push toward Madrid reported today they wiped out an entire battalion of "red lions" seeking to block the way.

Seven villages were reported to have fallen before the broad-fronted offensive which, after three days of intense fighting, had carried the vanguard of Gen. Francisco Franco's troops to within 48 miles of Madrid.

One column was reported officially to have battered its way into Brihueca, an important highway junction about six miles south of the main high-road, and only 20 miles northeast of Guadalajara which is 32 miles northeast of Madrid.

Twelve government tanks were reported captured in the past two days. Under virtual slaughter, the government resistance appeared to collapse.

The insurgents drove into government trenches just north of Triunfo, about 15 miles from Guadalajara on the Aragon highway, while supporting planes bombed defense concentrations.

Famous Napoleon Born Under Flag of France

For centuries before Napoleon's birth Corsica was under the domination of Genoa. King Henry II of France had in the sixteenth century (1553 to 1558) attempted its conquest, but a few years later it was handed back to the Genoese republic. In May, 1769, after the Corsican patriots under Paoli had forced out the Genoese, only to be followed by a French invasion, the island became a French possession. A few months later Napoleon was born, a French citizen. His own father had been a follower and friend of Paoli, had declared against France and had fought for Corsican independence. The Story-Life of Napoleon says:

"Some 300 Corsicans, determined never to wear the yoke of the French, gathered around their general-in-chief and sailed away on an exile to England. Signora Buonaparte's husband was eager to go with them. But for the objections of the wife, who was to be a mother again in three months, London and not Ajaccio would have been the birthplace of Napoleon and he would have become perhaps a British soldier. Yielding to her counsels, the husband took the lead in making peace with the French commander."

Napoleon himself wrote: "I was born while my country was dying; also 'I will never forgive my father, who was Paoli's adjutant, for having concurred in the union of Corsica with France.'—Detroit News.

Emancipation Monument

The Emancipation monument in Boston has never received a full measure of approval from art critics, but it has had an interesting history. The statue is a copy of the Freedmen's memorial in Washington, which was paid for by subscription among former slaves of the South, a subscription reaching about $18,000. Thomas Ball was the sculptor of the piece. He conceived the idea in Munich when he heard the news of Lincoln's assassination and set to work immediately on his return to Florence where he maintained his studio. An odd incident in connection with the modeling is that the sculptor could not obtain models for the figures and therefore became his own model, kneeling in front of a mirror in order to carve the figure of the slaves. This statue was bought by the former slaves and erected in Washington with great ceremonies, including an oration by the negro orator, Frederick Douglass.—Boston Globe.

Earth and Water

Not always have the same regions of the earth as are now covered by water been submerged. Nor has the land now seen always been above sea level. For there have been upthrusts from the sea to create new land just as there have been subsidences with the seas sweeping over vast areas. It is certain that in the crust of the earth now covered by tidewater there are enormously rich resources, held secure, perhaps, from man's exploitation. It is not doubted that there are metals, priceless gems, and various other valuable things lying there under the oceans. Oil, too, no doubt, locked perhaps, forever away from human acquisitiveness.

John Hancock

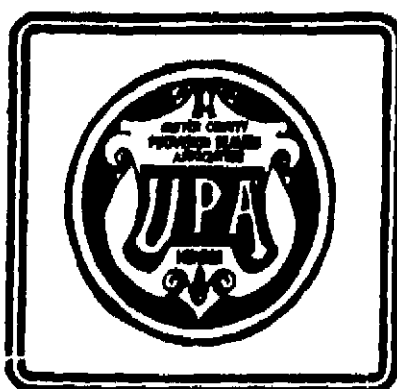

John Hancock was the first president of the Provincial Congress, and of the Continental Congress in Philadelphia, the first to sign the Declaration of Independence and the first governor of Massachusetts, an office which he held with the exception of two years, because of ill health, from 1780 until 1793. Hancock was the first major general of the militia in the colony of Massachusetts.

Tombs Are Lighted

Incandescent lights are used in all the important tombs in the Valley of the Kings in Egypt. They bring into bold relief the wonderful hieroglyphics, symbolic figure and images upon the walls and ceilings of the long corridors and chambers, whose vivid colors have not faded in the past 20 centuries or more.

Short Freedom

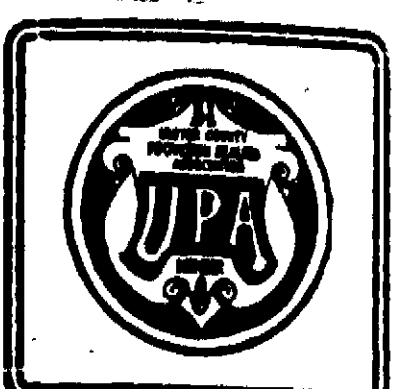

In the year 1517 the Spanish king permitted a friend of his to import 4,000 negroes annually into the new Spanish colonies of the new world in 1550 he revoked the permission and sent an envoy to America to convey this and set the slaves free, which was dutifully done. The minute the envoy took ship, a bark for home the slaves were recaptured and set to work again as slaves.

Dean Stanley Talks To 26 Pastors on Charities Drive

Emphasizing the fact that the parish unit is the fundamental source of the diocesan strength, the Very Rev. John J. Stanley, dean of Sullivan and Ulster counties, addressed pastors of the 26 Catholic parishes of the two counties who had been called to the meeting to outline and discuss the general plan for parish organization for the 1937 Catholic Charities appeal. Funds collected during the appeal will go toward the support of the 214 agencies of Catholic Charities.

The meeting, held Wednesday afternoon at St. Mary's Church here, was one of a series throughout the three boroughs and seven counties which comprise the New York Archdiocese and was called following a message from his Eminence, Patrick Cardinal Hayes, which was given to the deans last week by the Rt. Rev. Wm. Michael J. Lavelle, vicar general.

The assembled pastors discussed the critical nature of the current year for the Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese. The organization, it was pointed out, has done a splendid job during the trying years of the depression despite its limited financial resources.

Due to the demand for immediate relief in the past, it was brought out, necessary improvements such as repairs and replacements had to be made. The damages of the depression years must be met, together with increased burdens imposed by the broader concept of social service work.

Contributions measured by the ability of the contributor in the light of improved economic conditions, rather than by past individual contributions, was the viewpoint urged generally upon the pastors. Emphasis was also laid upon impressing the Catholic public and the general community with the scope and magnitude of the 214 agencies of Catholic Charities. Few Catholics realize, it was pointed out, that upwards of $10,000,000 is spent in the agencies of Catholic Charities annually.

The parish unit, which is the fundamental source of strength, must foster the "democracy of giving," by means of organization and leadership, the pastors agreed.

PROCLAMATION

As Mayor of the City of Kingston, I take pleasure in proclaiming Saturday, March 13, Tag Day for the Volunteers of America.

This organization is conducting on Barman avenue a day nursery and an emergency home for girls, as well as assisting in other ways those less fortunate.

I urge our citizens to generously contribute, through the purchase of tags, to the splendid work this organization is doing in Kingston.

C. J. HEISELMAN, Mayor.

Armory Features 3 Games and Dance

Friday evening at the Armory, there will be a program featuring three games of basketball followed by a period of dancing.

The first game at 7 o'clock will bring together the Armory Pros and a local outfit. The second contest will pit the Unnamed Five girls team against the A. A. Girls, and the main attraction at 9 o'clock will see Battery A clash with the Quartermaster Corps from West Point.

SCHMELING'S ANNOUNCEMENT CONFIRMED BY ROTHENBURG

Berlin, March 11 (UP)—Walter Rothenburg, promoter for the Deutschland Halle A. C., today confirmed Max Schmeling's announcement in New York that a $250,000 guarantee was awaiting Heavyweight Champion Jimmy Braddock if he accepts an offer to defend the title against Schmeling in the Olympic Stadium, Berlin, this summer.

Rothenburg said he was holding himself ready to sail for the United States if Braddock manifests sufficient interest in the proposal.

Under tentative plans already drawn up, the seating capacity of the Olympic Stadium would be increased from 120,000 to 150,000.

Golden Miller Favorite

London, March 11 (UP)—Dorothy Page's Golden Miller, 1934 winner, today became the favorite for the Grand National Steeplechase to be run at Aintree March 13. In the Victoria Club call-over, Miller was quoted at 100 to 12 with H. Lloyd Thomas' Royal Mail the second choice at 100 to 2. Two American-owned candidates, Robert Lehman's Mergle and J. B. Snow's Delectance, shared the next place at 100 to 7 with Sir D. Llewellyn's Ego.

Cunningham on Spot
Monte, France, March 11 (UP)—The veteran scotch golf professional, Walter Cunningham, who knows the game as it is played by the British Royal family, was "around" today to coach Wallis Warfield Simpson in the fine points used by the Duke of Windsor. Cunningham, who is well acquainted with the private links of the Chateau De Candor where Mrs. Simpson is a guest, declined to say if he had been engaged to teach the Duke of Windsor and his fiancée their favorite sport. He added, however, "I am around here if needed."

Mayor Issues Call for March 16 Meeting In Syphilis Fight

A meeting has been called by Mayor Heiselman for next Tuesday evening, March 16 at 8:30 at the Municipal Auditorium for the purpose of discussing a program on syphilis education and syphilis control for Kingston. The following agencies are being requested to attend: Board of Health and officers, Catholic Charities Agent, City Emergency Relief Bureau, City Welfare Department, Child Hygiene Committee, Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., Mrs. Mary Doremus, County Agent, Dependent Children, Miss Murphy, Ulster County Tuberculosis Nurse, Social Hygiene Committee, Ulster County Medical Society, Volunteers of America, School Physician and Nurses.

The Association of American Railroads says that fatalities and injuries to passengers and employees were reduced 88 per cent.

Assessment Would Be Increased

In the report Wednesday of Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman's appearance before the statewide municipal hearing on municipal franchise assessments in Albany Tuesday, the mayor was misquoted as to the amount of extra tax placed on Kingstonians because of the reduction in the rate set by the state tax department. The report had the mayor saying that the amount would be more than $100,000. Instead he should have been quoted as saying the total city assessment, not taxes, would be increased by that amount with the municipal franchise assessment rate cut from 70 to 65 per cent. Mayor Heiselman appeared in Albany to ask that the rate be raised to .70, the 1935 figure, from .65 established as the 1936 rate.

Upton Sinclair, who campaigned unsuccessfully for the California governorship in 1934, says he is "out of politics" for the rest of his life.

The New Home of the United Cut Rate Pharmacy at 324 Wall St.

The United Cut Rate Pharmacy, formerly located at 316 Wall St., next door to J. C. Penney's, has moved to its new, modern location at 324 Wall St.

It is one of the largest and finest equipped stores in New York State and carries a large selection of Drugs and Cosmetics.

A new feature of the store is the gift shop which carries a most vibrant, exhilarating collection of Ladies' Hosiery, Lingerie, Hand Bags and Umbrellas, sparkling in their originality and freshness.

The Wall St. Smoke Shop, another department in this great store, features the Loft Candy Agency and carries a most complete line of Cigars, Cigarettes, Pipes, Tobaccos and Novelties.

The Cut Rate Pharmacy deeply appreciates the very many flattering comments that have been made regarding its new home and the remarkable change that has been effected both inside and outside the store.

The front, with its striking modern design, is heralded by all who have seen it, as the most up-to-date thing of its kind in this section. The paneling above and below the show windows and across the entire front is of red formica, trimmed with horizontal stripes of chromium. It is set off with a handsome neon sign, of good depth and extending across the entire width of the building, that attracts the instant attention of every Wall Street visitor.

There is a deep entrance—it sets back 14 feet from the walk—flanked on either side by show windows that give generous space for a complete display of the extensive lines carried by the Cut Rate. Elaborate panels of gum wood, increasingly popular as a finish, complete the backs and ceilings of the show windows and form a pleasing background.

Patrons enter the deep vestibule over a heavy inset rubber mat, while over the entrance doorway the glass is attractively finished off in fan-light effect.

The entire interior of the store has been remodeled and redecorated and visitors will find in its arrangements a number of new ideas in store planning that are pleasing and make buying more pleasurable and more convenient.

The eastern side of the store is given over to drugs and cosmetic, with a new and modern prescription department at the rear. The prescription unit is finished off in white enamel, while to insure nothing but the freshest and strongest supplies in the line of chemicals and pharmaceuticals, the latter are stored in air-tight containers of a new design.

All prescription work is handled by a corps of experienced and thoroughly equipped registered pharmacists.

At the right of the entrance to the store will be found the candy department, which features a complete line of the popular Loft candies, as well as other confections. There is also a well equipped cigar counter.

Adjoining the candy department is the Gift Shop—"the store within a store"—one of the new features that is attracting a great deal of favorable attention and patronage. At the rear of the gift shop will be found the business office.

UNCOMFORTABLE MOMENTS--

By Frank H. Beck.

Chinese Nation on Way Up, Speaker Tells Rotary Club

The Chinese nation, kicked around for centuries in the backwash of stagnation, is beginning to rise through her growing youth movement, and, spurred on by modern thought and the adaptation of western materialism to her growing needs, is developing a self sufficiency unknown for thousands of years.

So said E. H. Munson before the members and guests at Rotary in the Hotel Governor Clinton Wednesday noon and his crisp, penetrating talk was founded on a personal knowledge through years of living in the Orient.

"The problem is a weighty one," said the speaker, "for the new order of things in China is based on perplexity. The youthful leaders of the new Chinese thought are asking themselves this question: Is there such a thing as peace in this strife filled world? Plagued by the evils of western civilization as exemplified by materialism, capitalism, communism, fascism and the other isms, the men of China are wondering constantly if there is such a thing as spiritual reality. With the doctrines of atheistic Russia filtering in from the north and with Japanese military aggression sweeping in from the east, they have discovered that the League of Nations and the help of western nations is of little moment. "In order to survive they have come to face actuality in the development of military might and where their growing militarism will eventually lead them is one of the most serious problems concerning the China of today."

Reason for Lack of Unity
The speaker spent some time explaining the reason for the apparent lack of unity which has characterized the Chinese people for centuries. Mr. Munson summed the matter up in the statement that poor transportation facilities have made the Chinese a people apart from each other, living in small feudal groups without any feeling of national pride. Anti-quated roads, illiteracy, famine and poverty have been the lot of the 450 millions of Chinese for centuries on end and the various provinces which constitute China proper have never had a bond of unity. They have it now.

The influx of the Japanese war machine, already in control of a section of northern China larger than Germany, England and France together, has created a tendency to unite for the sake of preservation and the Chinese movement, leaping the long length from poor roads to air-mindedness, has become a people linked by modern airplane travel.

Her once isolated provinces in the interior and her territory bordering on Tibet to the west, beyond reach until recently except through months of slow, arduous travel, have become linked overnight through the magic of the modern airplane. It has welded the people of China into a national group and China today buys more airplanes from America than any other nation and her government is employing American, German and Italian pilots to teach her young men the art of flying. The radio, too, has brought all China into common touch with her own problems and the problems of other nations.

Compulsory Education
China, under her new plan of action, is making education compulsory both for young and old alike and her new military arm forces all young men to undergo a rigid military training during May, June and July of each year under the guidance of Gornat instructors. Her present plan according to the speaker, is based on protection rather than aggression but where her growing strength will lead her depends upon her leaders.

China has been a backward nation for so long that her present day absorption of modernism is a complicated matter. Because her population is 85 per cent rural in comparison with 35 per cent in this country and because her population is so much larger than the United States, the quick change from antiquated ideas to the materialism of today has placed China in the unfortunate position of a nation forced to accept the many panaceas thrust upon her by western civilization. Social, economic and political doctrines both good and bad find their way into her national life, complicating her recovery and making her way the more difficult.

Inroads of Communism
Mr. Munson explained that communism has made vast inroads into China because of the poverty stricken position of the peasants. Their lot has been so miserable that any doctrine was acceptable and the speaker said the Chinese leaders were quick to realize that communism couldn't be halted simply by cutting off the heads of the communists. The lot of the peasant had to be improved and China is basing its movement along this line of action.

When asked if the Chinese nation wouldn't absorb its aggressors as it has done in the past, Mr. Munson explained that Chinese history had proven this to be true, but the aggression of Japan was a different matter. This was due to the fact that China has always managed to absorb her conquerors in the past because they were always of a lower order of society than the Chinese. Unfortunately, this is not true of the Japanese and the problem of absorption is open to question.

The speaker was firm in the belief that China was on her way to a definite place in the family of nations and that her future might be a blend of the best modern ideas of both the east and the western world, a blend which might well develop into a new type of civilization.

The speaker was brought to the club through the efforts of Clarence Dumm, principal of Kingston High school.

Two new members were welcomed into the club by President Arthur Colligan during the short business session. They were Byron S. Chat-ham, manager of the local J. C. Penney store, and Edmund Roch-ford, manager of the Hercules Pow-der.

"Muck-Amuck," Indian's Bread in Lord's Prayer
The Pacific Northwest Indian of two centuries ago had no word for bread, something unknown to him, so he asked for "muck-amuck" when he recited the Lord's prayer, according to an authority in the Detroit News.

"Ne-si-ka Papa klaxta mit-lite ko-pa Sach-a-lie," it begins.

A literal translation read: "Our Father who dwells on high, good for our hearts your name, good you chief of all people; good your heart to such country as our up above; give us all days our food, and stop remembering all our sins we make to them, suppose sin against us; throw far away from us all evil."

The various Chinook version of the Lord's prayer, it is said, came into being about 1740 from the influence of early missionaries.

Not until later did the Indians come to use a word for bread, "sap-o-ill."

The Chinook was a kind of es-pan-to language in which all tribes could talk somewhat with each other, and was in use before the white man came.

PROUD OF HER 21ST

Mrs. Bertha Cox Johnson in a Johnstown, N. Y., hospital fondled her newborn twenty-first child and declared: "People ought to have bigger families." Mrs. Johnson is 42 and the wife of David Johnson, Akeley, Pa., farmer. They were married when she was 17. The new arrival is the couple's tenth girl. (Associated Press Photo)

In County Granges

Plattekill

Regular meeting of Plattekill Grange will be held in the Grange Hall on Saturday evening, March 13.

A St. Patrick's Day program will be presented in charge of the following committee: Mrs. Arthur Delner, chairman, Mrs. Ernest Walte, Florence Warren, Eleanor Smullen, Dorothy Fowler, John O'Dell, Edgar Cronk, Jr.

The program will consist of readings, recitations, pantomimes appropriate to the day. Charles Everett will have charge of a one-act play, "Now Don't Laugh." Patrons are urged to support their team in the attendance contest. The contest has created much interest among the members of the Grange.

It is hoped that this interest may result in a large attendance at Grange meetings.

The Grange will sponsor a social dance on Friday evening, March 19. The following committee will have charge of arrangements: Mr. and Mrs. James Leetch, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Edmunds, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Cook, Evelyn Presler, Lon Benedict.

Hosts and hostesses for Saturday evening will be Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey McLean, Mr. and Mrs. George Parلمان, Mrs. Louise Parلمان, Mr. and Mrs. George Crist, Mrs. Nellie Roosa, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Van Alst, E. H. Crane, Harold Titus.

Hornell Protests Negro Camp
Hornell, March, 11 (AP)—Hornell City Council protested to Federal Officials in Washington today against plans for the establishment of a Civilian Conservation Corps of negroes near here. By resolution the council asked war department and CCC officials to abandon the move on the grounds that Hornell had no "adequate facilities for providing for social recreation for such a number of colored persons." Some 1,600 negro CCC workers, under the plan, are scheduled for the camp at Artport, six miles from Hornell.

Only 48 per cent of the potato used in the United States in 1935 was produced in this country.

Scottie's a "Wee little body" when it comes to keeping house, which behooves you, likewise, to get busy and embroider a new set of tea towels for your kitchen. There's inspiration aplenty in these seven droll motifs, so wonderfully effective when illuminated by the use of a single color floss. There's sure to be a bridal shower, birthday or other occasion for which this set is gift-worthy. In pattern 5652 you will find a transfer pattern of seven motifs (one for each day of the week) averaging $4\frac{1}{2} \times 7\frac{1}{2}$ inches; material requirements; illustrations of all stitches used; color suggestions.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to the Kingston Daily Freeman, Household Arts Dept., 253 W. 14th street, New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS and PATTERN NUMBER.

TILSON

Tilson, March 11.—Jacob Lewis and family were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Van Noodal.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dewey entertained Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Dewey and daughter Dorothy of New York city and Maurice Dewey of West Point.

John Barringer and Mrs. Florence Christiana of Krumville spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Merrihue on Sunday.

Miss Betty Von Soosten of Kings

County Hospital Brooklyn, spent the week-end with friends and relatives in Tilson.

Mrs. Sigrist and daughter Alice spent the week-end in New York city.

Mrs. Hattie Davis attended a birthday dinner at the home of Mrs. Sallie Du Bois, New Paltz, Sunday March 7. Her brother of Pleasant Plains was guest of honor.

Simon Keator of Long Island spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. A. Merrihue.

Services as usual in both churches next Sunday. Sunday School at 10 a. m. and church service at 11 a. m. All invited.

Mrs. Dunn had a birthday dinner Sunday in honor of her own and her grandson Robert's birthday. Her daughter and husband of Fishkill were their guests. Her sister, Mrs. Terwilliger, was remembered by them with ice cream and other good things from their feast.

Mrs. Elizabeth Freer is quite ill at the home of her brothers, the Rev. Anson and Zina Coutant, Mr. and Mrs. Craig entertained their son, Oliver Keator, and wife and Theodore Swift on Sunday.

A very pleasant and most enjoyable evening was had by all who attended the card party and dance given under the auspices of the Tilson Volunteer Fire Department on Monday evening, March 1, at the Clinton Ford Pavilion. After the card party refreshments were served by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Fire Department after which dancing was the order of the evening.

In the 26 years he has kept weather records at Waterloo, Ia., Mayor Ralph B. Sillpy has noted temperatures ranging from 33 degrees below zero to 112 above.

MODES of the MOMENT

Fitted Coats For Easter

The fitted flared coat is "tops" in spring fashions. This one, designed by Helen Cookman, is made of black wool and trimmed at the shoulder line and cuff with black velvet ropes. It buttons straight down the front from a high turn-over neckline. The little black straw toque has twin jeweled clips caught on the brim. Carnelian glass gloves complete the costume.

LEARN TO DRESS SMARTLY

Jean looks like a million dollars. Her smart good taste hits the spot with Charlie, makes him see that Laura's rigged up wrong.

Jean spends less to look smart than Laura does to assemble her unbecoming costumes.

Jean never lets herself be high-pressed into buying a dress that's beautiful by itself. Her clothes must flatter her—and hide her defects. So she chooses V-necks to take away the pudgy look from her round face and short neck, narrow belts and built-out shoulders to hide her "humpiness". She avoids the purplish blues being shown this spring, because she knows that purplish tones drain every bit of color from her clear pale skin.

Laura could look just as stunning if she knew about line and color and good taste. But she makes her lovely olive skin look sallow by wearing rose. Brick red would cast a flattering glow, yet blend with her skin because of the yellow tint in it. That "cartwheel" hat, just right with summery chiffons, is dowdy with the knitted suit that's crying for a trim tailored felt.

Laura violates the smart woman's code for costume jewelry—never wear necklace and earrings at the same time. And of course with all that jewelry, the shoulder flower is too, too much.

Our 40-page booklet, SECRETS OF BEING WELL DRESSED, tells how to choose lines that bring out your good points, hide your defects. How to combine colors. Facts about materials, style trends, pointers for home dressmakers. The basic dress plan makes your wardrobe seem larger than it is.

Send 15c for our booklet, SECRETS OF BEING WELL DRESSED, to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Institute, 109 West 19th Street, New York, N. Y. Write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

CONTRAST OFFERS THRILLING NOVELTY IN MARIAN MARTIN COAT-FROCK

PATTERN 9172

A triumph of chic and simplicity, is Pattern 9172—newest of Marian Martin's refreshing designs! Wonderfully becoming, this stunning princess-like coat-frock that offers exciting novelty in its contrasting pointed collar and cuffs and interesting bow-sash! You'll date on a frock that will rise to any Springtime or Summer occasion, is done in a jiffy and fastened in no time by six groupings of buttons. Wouldn't you love it made up in dark crepe, dainty triple sheer, or a gay synthetic fabric? Macaroni And Salmon Au Gratin

$1\frac{1}{2}$ cups cooked macaroni $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon paprika
1 cup salmon $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon celery salt
3 tablespoons butter 1 teaspoon minced parsley
4 tablespoons flour $\frac{1}{4}$ cup crumbs
2 cups milk 2 tablespoons butter, melted
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt

Melt the 3 tablespoons butter and add flour. When mixed add milk and cook until a creamy sauce forms. Cook slowly and stir constantly. Add seasonings. Pour over the macaroni and salmon which have been placed in layers in a shallow buttered baking dish. Make deep cuts down through the mixture to allow the sauce to penetrate it well. Sprinkle the top with the crumbs mixed with melted butter. Bake or broil 20 minutes.

Corn Fritters

1 cup mashed potatoes $\frac{1}{4}$ cup flour
1 cup corn $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon baking powder
1 cup salt 2 tablespoons fat
1 egg

Mix potatoes with corn, salt, egg, flour and baking powder. Melt the fat in a frying pan and add the corn mixture dropped from a spoon. Cook until well browned. Turn and brown upper sides.

Pineapple Conserve

4 cups crushed pineapple $\frac{1}{4}$ cup lemon juice
3 cups chopped figs $\frac{1}{4}$ cup orange juice
1 cup chopped dates $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped raisins 3 cups sugar

Mix the ingredients and let stand 30 minutes. Simmer until the conserve thickens. (This will require about 40 minutes of cooking.) Stir frequently with a long-handled wooden spoon. Pour into sterilized jars. When cool seal.

"Assassination Proof" Residence

Tokyo, March 11 (AP)—Premier Senjuro Hayashi moved today into his new specially built official residence, described by its architects as "assassination proof." The $28,000 "house of secrets" is honeycombed with subterranean passages, secret exits, mysterious doors and disappearing floors and has a number of bomb proof rooms with floors and walls impervious to bullets. Not even his wife will know in what part of the house he sleeps, Hayashi declared.

Ice Crop—At Last.
Penn Yan, March 11 (AP)—Local Kenka ice cutters worked today to harvest a 1937 crop without loss now by a recalcitrant winter. Nie Swortwood, dean of Lake Erie men, estimated that with continued cold the yield would be 2,000 tons, a tenth of the normal winter quota.

Cummings Testifies At Senate Judiciary Hearing

"Rejuvenate the judicial machinery" was the opening plea of Attorney General Homer S. Cummings (right, leaning over table) as he took the stand at the opening of the senate judiciary committee hearing on President Roosevelt's court reorganization program. He said the plan would inject "new blood" into judiciary and avoid "stagnation of the constitution." Members of the committee are, left to right: Senators Edward Burke (D-Neb.), Frederick Steiwer (D-Or.), Warren Austin (R-Vt.), Ellison Smith (D-S. C.), William E. Borah (R-Ida.), William H. Varied Activities At Normal School

New Paltz, March 11.—The Music Association held its monthly meeting in the auditorium on Tuesday evening, March 2. The band presented the following program after the business meeting. They appeared in uniform and were under the direction of Howard B. Hoffmann: Variety of numbers, band. Clarinet solo, Paul Lehr. "Star-dust," Clarinet quartet by John Meagher, Herbert Lowe, Albert Roeder and John Whalen. Moving pictures of the band which were taken at one of the football games last fall were shown. At the conclusion of the program games, dancing and refreshments were enjoyed in the gymnasium. The program was under the direction of Richard Perkins as general chairman; refreshment committee, Kathleen Ritchie, Jean Renison, Pauline Peters and Emily Tuttle; publicity, John Meagher, William Barton; program, Marie Rhinehart, Herbert Lowe, John Kuapp and Elaine Kniffen.

The Normal orchestra has been holding night rehearsals to get into shape for the spring concert. For the first time in recent years a cup for excellence in scholarship has been awarded to a fraternity. The Mary Politi Scholarship cup has been awarded to the Delta Kappa Fraternity for the September to January semester. This cup was established by Enzo Politi, a 1936 alumnus, in honor of his grandmother Mary A. Politi for the purpose of promoting scholarship among all the groups of the school. The organization having the highest average is to hold the cup for that semester. If an organization can hold the cup for three consecutive semesters, it will be awarded to them permanently. The Delta Kappa Fraternity is the first group to receive this award and will be presented with it some time in the near future.

another game to make final a decision, so the score will stand until another game can be scheduled. The Sigma Pi Sigma will hold its meeting on Thursday evening March 11.

Adalyn Hopkins, Dorothy Dreher, Mary Sharp, Gracene Downing and Marge Mihalko were week-end guests at the Arethusa House. James Scott, the artist, demonstrated the various processes in printing dry points and etchings before Miss Esther Bessley's senior art classes on Wednesday.

The Delta Kappa team defeated the Delphic aggregation at basketball 18-16. In the second game the Commuters managed to nose the Locals out by one point, 27-26.

The Country Life Club held its monthly meeting in the gymnasium on Wednesday. Plans were made for the banquet to be held in April.

After the business, games and refreshments were enjoyed. The program was in charge of Isabel Ketchman; refreshments, Blanche Gulaac; games, Viola Hersey, and Olga Schiede was chairman of the publicity.

Mary Broderick entertained Elton Lowett from Dartmouth over the week-end.

Betty Van Alstyne and Alene Decker made a trip to Hudson on Friday.

Max Bastian and M. Goodman spent the week-end at the Delphic House.

The house presidents' meeting will be held Thursday afternoon, March 11.

Thievery in Courtroom.
Middletown, March 11 (AP).—City Court Judge Edmund C. Faulkner is determined there will be no more thievery in the solemn precincts of the room where he presides. From a drawer in his court room desk, five feet from the door leading to police headquarters, his eight-dollar fountain pen was stolen. So beginning tonight, the doors to the court room, hitherto open at all hours, will be locked tight by the judge's orders.

Roosevelt to Leave For Warm Springs

Washington, March 11 (AP)—President Roosevelt ordered everything but his fishing tackle put in suit cases today for a two weeks' visit to Warm Springs, Ga.

Large Tarpon spinners will be held in reserve for a sea vacation late next month in the Gulf of Mexico.

A special train of a half dozen cars was made ready at Union Station to take the Chief Executive and a White House party of 11 late in the afternoon to the southland, where the peach trees are beginning to bloom.

Leaving behind a host of legislative recommendations topped in public interest by the proposed Supreme Court reorganization, the President will arrive at the springs tomorrow morning.

He will go directly to his white cottage on Pine Mountain overlooking the foundation which he established for infantile paralysis sufferers.

Air Conditioner At A. Hymes' Store

An Airtemp Conditioner is being installed at the A. Hymes shoe store, 325 Wall street, by the Ulster Fuel Oil Co. The machine, built by Airtemp, Inc., a subsidiary of the Chrysler Corporation, is designed to completely change and purify the air in the store at frequent intervals and also has a refrigerating unit that can be adjusted, to keep the temperature at any figure desired on the hottest summer day. Hymes brothers are taking great pride in this latest addition for the comfort and convenience of their patrons; also in the fact, as stated, that theirs is the first business house in the city to be equipped with air conditioning.

The assembled unit, which stands about seven feet in height, weighing 1,100 pounds, is being installed at the rear of the store. It is motor driven, air from the room being drawn in at the top by a fan system. Fresh air is brought in from outside, purified and, when desired, cooled to a fixed temperature and then sent out to replace impure air taken from the room. Liquid freon, a new refrigerating material, is released from a large condenser as required to modify the air temperature.

The conditioner is already in position and it is expected will be completely installed and ready for operation within a day or so.

Youth Detained Here
James Boylan, 14, of 238 South Orange avenue, Newark, N. J., was held by the police today for relatives in Jersey. He was picked up by Patrolman Urban Healey this morning at 5 o'clock on Broadway near Henry street. The boy and Albert Bradford, 12, who gave his address as 178 Bergen street, Newark, were hitch-hiking. Young Bradford was turned over to his father, Orrie Bradford of Eddyville.

Commodities Hit New High Marks

Commodities were active yesterday, nearly all being concerned in the upward movement and many reaching new post-depression high marks. Metals continued to rise. Export copper hit 17.475 cents a pound, highest since 1923 and lead moved to 7.75 cents a pound. Tin was up and cast iron pipe prices advanced $5 a ton.

Pennsylvania oil advanced another half cent a gallon. Higher meat prices were predicted by President R. H. Cabell of Armour and Manager D. L. Swanson of Chicago Producers Commission Association.

Electric production for week ended March 6 showed a gain of 16.2 per cent over similar week last year.

U. S. Steel shipments in February were 1,133,724 tons compared with 676,315 tons in February last year.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By CLAUDE E. JACQUES

New York, March 11 (AP)—Bidding was more selective in today's stock market and many traders cashed in part of their profits which had piled up over the past week or so.

Backwardness of major steels, motors, coppers, oils and aircrafts slowed the advancing tide in other departments. After an active first hour the volume dwindled. Prices were uneven near the final period. Transfers were around 2,500,000 shares.

An early set-back in Chrysler tended to chill buying sentiment.

Rubber futures established new tops since 1923 and rumors were heard of another boost in tire prices.

Bonds were narrow and wheat and cotton mixed. Spot copper was up in London but other recently soaring raw materials were reactionary.

Shares in demand most of the time for gains up to 2 points or more included Goodrich, Goodrich, U. S. Rubber, Firestone, Gulf States Steel, Republic National Lead, Pennsylvania, Schenley, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, National Distillers, U. S. Leather and Canada Dry.

Inclined to slip were Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, National Steel, Yellow Truck, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Western Union, Consolidated Edison, Anaconda, Kennecott, Standard Oil of N. J., American Can, General Electric, Westinghouse, Allied Chemical, N. Y. Central, du Pont and Johns-Manville.

Quotations given by Parker McElroy & Co., members, N. Y. Stock Exchange, 120 Broadway, New York city; branch office, 282 Wall street.

Girl, 15, Becomes A 'Grandmother'

Munson Cites Four Point Program for Youth of China

The large meeting hall of the Y. M. C. A. was filled last evening by a representative group of Kingston people, who gathered at a banquet to hear E. H. Munson, regional secretary of the South China Y. M. C. A., deliver an address on modern China and the four-point program.

Mr. Munson touched first on the idea of the China which had once been the mecca of culture and is now far behind the rest of the world in present standards of civilization. However, he stressed the fact that China was awakening under the leadership of the Christian General Kai-shek and that Chinese youth were following a program that had four main points, namely: The idea of migration to the fertile field of advancing civilization in the northwest, symbolized by the phrase, "Go Northwest, Young Man;" the militaristic tendency now coming to the fore, because of the aggression of Japan, told more plainly by the phrase, "Go Militarist, Young Man;" the trend toward western civilization through a boom in cultural standards and the endeavor to further educational projects, evidenced by the point, "Go Modern, Young Man;" and last, by the looking to the Christian religion and method of living as the possible solution of the aggression of Japan and the turning back of the approaching atheist, communistic program of Siberian

The speaker holds forth the idea of the great possibilities of the future China, lauding the pioneer missionaries for their great work in laying the foundation which will give the opportunity for this nation of the Orient to rise and take its place among the leading nations of the world.

First Atlantic Cable
On August 6, 1857, the eastern end of Cyrus W. Field's first Atlantic telegraph cable was pulled ashore at Valentia Bay, Ireland. Great crowds eagerly awaited the event. The moment the cable boats touched the shore, writes an eye witness, "a hundred hands seized the cable, and running up the elevated ground which fronts the bay, landed it about fifty feet from the water mark." Sharply in contrast with this enthusiasm was the public dejection when, on August 11, the cable parted and was lost beyond recovery in 2,000 fathoms of water, after 334 nautical miles had been laid. Field, however, never lost faith in the enterprise and, after overcoming repeated difficulties, he laid, in 1866, a cable which proved permanently successful.

HELP 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

To Flush out Acids and Other Poisonous Waste
Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 Miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the beginning of exciting headache, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, indigestion and diarrhea.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Don's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 Miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Don's Pills.

Marcel and Make-Up
Norman, Okla., March 11 (AP).—Marcel and make-up go a long way to aid women suffering mental ailments. Dr. D. W. Griffin, superintendent of the Central Oklahoma Hospital for Insane, said today. "When the women get their hair done and their fingernails fixed, you should see the change in them," he said. "First think you know they are going to our dances and to chapel."

Using a white pig as bait, A. C. Corder and V. A. Henningan of Clarendon, Tex., trapped a black eagle measuring seven feet between wing tips.

Cigarettes came into popularity during the Crimean war when soldiers rolled their smokes in cartridge paper.

Drive Safely!

A LOT depends upon your steering wheel. But the entire steering assembly including the front wheels are also very important parts. They are most subjected to the strain of driving. Misalignment is the term applied to steering assembly troubles. In order to obtain the greatest possible amount of driving safety, these troubles must be corrected. They can be easily and quickly remedied by our scientific tools designed to do the job. Drive safely. Hard steering—tire wear and wander are indications of misalignment. Frank Mason Speaks On Supreme Court at Y. W.

Last evening the Business Girls' Club of the Y. W. C. A. had guest night at the regular weekly supper meeting. Instead of the usual long tables, card tables were grouped in front of the speaker's table. An additional feature was individual place cards for each member and her guest.

On behalf of the club, Miss Mary Skinner, president, presented Mr. Charles Terwilliger with a gift in token of the deep appreciation of her efforts in arranging the successful supper in the past.

The guest speaker of the evening was the always popular speaker, Frank W. Mason, principal of the Saugerties High School, who gave an extremely fine talk on "The Supreme Court." Mr. Mason prefaced his remarks with a short review of the history of the supreme court, which was one of the triumvirate set up at Constitutional Convention.

Stressing the point that the American public should understand fully that Congress has full constitutional powers to determine the jurisdiction of the court, he further showed that the constitution says nothing about membership in the court, and that, therefore, Congress has every constitutional right to make any changes it desires. For 54 years, for good or ill, the supreme court trusted the constitutional rights of Congress, although in many famous cases the court declared that the states were acting unconstitutionally.

"Every attitude toward the court depends upon how we are affected by its conditions," Mr. Mason continued. "Acts of the federal government are always measured in terms of what we want done." He then gave statements of Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt, showing examples of overriding the supreme court. The only control the public has over the supreme court is by electing a President it likes and by hoping a member of the court will die. In reconstruction days it was Congress not the President who quarreled with the supreme court.

Since 1912 there have been 17 different appointments in the court or an average of one every 21 months. So Roosevelt is long overdue in his appointments. Many Presidents in the past were honest in the matter of the appointments. Lincoln, Grant and Theodore Roosevelt went out of the way to explain and justify why they appointed a certain man to the bench. Their attitude of mind was in harmony with the attitude of mind of the public. "Is this a democracy, or do we have to make it a government of the people, by congress, for the supreme court?" challenged Mr. Mason.

Trying to blast out some of the inane thoughts that are finding root today, he brought out the most important arguments for and against the proposed changes. Originally there were six judges on the bench. Later it was reduced to five. Another time the number was raised to 10. In 1869, Grant changed the number to nine and it has remained that way ever since.

Mr. Mason then cited the important arguments against the proposed changes in the constitution. Roosevelt is pretending to increase the size in order to increase the efficiency. This argument, according to the speaker, is pure subterfuge. The argument of establishing a serious precedent is not too strong. If the people did not want the change to occur, they should not have elected the President. "In a democracy we get the kind of a government we deserve." One argument against the change that perhaps has more weight is that it will end the effectiveness of the court. Mr. Mason feels that, if it ends the dictation of the original founders, it will have a good result because this is a different age from that in which the founders lived. If the people confine the interpretation of the constitution to the wording and spirit of the day in which it was written, they are bringing a yoke of bondage upon themselves.

In stating the arguments in favor of the change, Mr. Mason said that the President believes that the constitution should serve the people, but it must be interpreted in the light of the present day. That, he believes, the supreme court is unable to do, because of the age of the members. A strong argument is that it is democratic and effective.

The speaker did not answer the question as to whether the proposed change should be made or not. He closed his remarks by referring again to the constitution and asking, "What do we mean by a constitution and what do we expect of it?" It is evident that some reforms and changes are long overdue. What these will be will have to be carefully considered by the American people in the next four or five months.

Czerwinski-LeFevre

The marriage of Miss Joan LeFevre, daughter of Mr. Agnes LeFevre, of 117 Washington avenue, and Edmund K. Czerwinski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Czerwinski of the Rosendale road, took place on Saturday, March 6, at the First Dutch Reformed Church. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Arthur Oudemool.

The couple was attended by Miss Martha Czerwinski, and Charles Czerwinski. The bride wore a pink tulle dress and carried a French bouquet of white sweet peas. The maid of honor wore a blue chiffon dress and carried a French bouquet of pink sweet peas. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, after which the couple left for Lake Placid and points north.

The bride is a graduate of New Rochelle Senior High School in Westchester county, and the bridegroom is a graduate of Kingston High School.

Miss Beulah Phelps Teaching

Miss Beulah Phelps, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Phelps of Saugerties, has returned to the teaching staff of the Ned Waburn studio in New York city.

Miss Phelps started at the studio as a student after leaving her boarding school, Wyckham Rise, in Washington, Conn. After six months of intensive training she was sent out on a tour in a presentation called "Follow the Sun." At the end of this engagement she became a member of the studio teaching staff, taking beginning children's classes in tap and musical comedy dancing and acting as relief teacher in all departments.

Then the "show business" called Miss Phelps and she appeared in a series of engagements, the last of which was "Good Boy." When this show closed, Miss Phelps returned to her home in Saugerties and opened her own dancing school. Classes in social dancing were conducted for the young people of Kingston and a branch studio was opened in Woodstock.

Miss Phelps was made a member of the Junior League of Kingston and was active in staging their shows for charity and in organizing their children's plays department, acting as director.

Jewish Alliance Informal Dance

The Jewish Youth Alliance will hold an informal dance Sunday evening, March 21, in the social hall of Temple Emanuel. The committee is busy working on this affair and a large crowd is expected.

Features of Goya Program

Its high musical quality is one of the most delightful features of the Spanish dance program which Carolina Goya will give at the high school auditorium on Monday evening, March 22, under the patronage of the Cooperative Concert Association.

As assisting artists, La Goya will present the remarkable young harp virtuosa, Beatrice Burford, and the equally talented pianist, Norman Secor.

Miss Burford, whom a New York musical critic pronounced "a harpist of extraordinary talent," and Musical America declared to be "a superb artist," will play two groups of solos, by Grandos, Galotti, Pittaluga, Albeniz and Tarenghi.

Mr. Secor will not only accompany the dancer, but will also furnish the musical interludes between dances when the artist is changing costumes, and will offer as a solo Albeniz's colorful "Triana."

On Thursday, March 3, Mrs. Harry Van Wagenen, director of the third judicial district in the State Federation of Women's Clubs, entertained her official family at luncheon at her home. At 2:30 these county chairmen convened for the purpose of selecting a candidate for the office of third district director for the coming term. Those present were Mrs. Harold Tice and Miss Harriet Tice of Troy, Mrs. Royal K. Fuller, Albany; Mrs. William H. Golding, Cobleskill; Mrs. Clarence Allen, Chatham; Miss May Chatterton, Greenville, and Mrs. Frank W. Thompson and Mrs. Ward Brigham of this city.

Among those receiving degrees from New York University in February was Miss Bertha Herwig of 41 Tubby street, this city. Miss Herwig received her degree of Bachelor of Science in Elementary Education. She was graduated from Kingston High School in 1929 and from New Paltz Normal in 1932, and is at present engaged in teaching at Williston Park, L. I.

Last night Mrs. E. E. Matthews of 107 Henry street entertained at dinner for Clyde Matthews in honor of his 31st birthday. The dinner was served in the private dining room of the Hotel Stuyvesant. Covers were laid for seven. The table was tastefully decorated in green and white. Guests present included Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Matthews, Mrs. Ethel Graham of Highland, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Gunzelman and Hillton Matthews.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Battenfeld of Hurley spent the past week-end in Poughkeepsie where they visited their daughter who is a student nurse at Vassar Hospital.

Mrs. Milnor Travis of the Saugerties Road entertained her Wednesday card club yesterday afternoon at her home.

Orchestras for Benedictine Ball

The music committee, Mrs. Frank Egan, Miss Margaret Kennedy, Mrs. James T. O'Reilly and Mrs. Alwyn Nicholas, have secured two local orchestras for the Benedictine Hospital Ball to be held Easter Monday night in the Municipal Auditorium. Paul Purcell's and Paul Zucca's 10-piece orchestras will furnish the excellent dance music which will be played that night. Paul Purcell's orchestra will give a concert from 8 to 8:30 o'clock and will play for the entertainment staged by Alfred Skeel, the well-known vaudeville producer. Paul Zucca's orchestra will play for dancing alternating with Purcell's orchestra, so that there will be continuous dancing during the entire evening.

The March meeting of the St. Peter's Children of Mary Sodality was held Monday evening at the school hall. Forty-four members were present. Fourteen girls have signed up for the ping-pong tournament which will begin next month.

The Rev. John P. Neumann gave a very interesting talk on Teresa Neumann of Bavaria. Miss Neumann is the young woman who has been afflicted with the "stigmata" and who, on Fridays, undergoes the same tortures as Christ. On two occasions Father Neumann had the good fortune of visiting Miss Neumann and witnessing the sufferings Miss Neumann endures. After the meeting the members enjoyed refreshments served by the Misses Gertrude Bruck, Mathilda Bruck and Rita Fautz.

Marriage Announced

William Quinn of Walkill, announces the marriage of his sister, Marie Barbara, to Leslie Hoffman of High Falls.

Mrs. Hoffman, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Quinn of Walkill, was graduated from Bridgewater College, Bridgewater, Va., in 1933, and from the Kingston Hospital School of Nursing in 1936.

Mr. Hoffman served in the U. S. Marines and was a member of the presidential guard to Presidents Coolidge and Hoover. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hoffman of High Falls.

The couple is spending the winter at Lake Worth, Fla.

Surprise Shower

A very delightful surprise shower was tendered Miss Kathryn Delamater last Sunday afternoon, at the home of Miss Louise Mellert on Andrew street. Miss Delamater will be married next month to Norman Spinnewebber, of Connelly. Following an enjoyable afternoon a delicious luncheon was served. Those present were the Misses Mary and Anna Stenglein, Constance Ringwald, Anna Porach, Louise Margaret and Rose Mellert, Anna Lischer, Ida Bruck, Catherine, Philomena and Theresa Geheringer, Mathilda Bruck, Gertrude and Emma Bruck, Mrs. Katherine Volk, Mrs. Isaac Delamater, Mrs. Spinnewebber, Mrs. H. Kolts, Mrs. Victor Taylor, Mrs. Dorothy Phillips, Mrs. David Conway, Mrs. William Sickler, Mrs. Carl Mellert and Mrs. Deering of Eltinge, S. I.

Newburgh Man Gets Five Days in Jail; Batavian 10 Days

There were two cases in police court this morning, and Assistant City Judge Gill sentenced both defendants to the Ulster county jail.

Arthur Brady of Newburgh drew five days for public intoxication and Ray Bradley of Batavia, 10 for disorderly conduct.

Brady was arrested Wednesday afternoon on the Strand, by Patrolmen Clarence Brophy and Henry Barman, where he was soliciting from passers-by.

"Yes, I've been arrested in Kingston before," Brady answered to Judge Gill's question whether he'd ever been in the tolls of the law here.

"You have the choice of paying $5 or going to jail for five days," said the judge, "to remind you to keep sober when you visit Kingston again."

Bradley, who was arrested by Special Officer Charles Messenger on East Strand this morning for creating a disturbance and using indecent language, took his sentence with a smile.

"This fellow wants to punish himself," Sergeant Charles Phinney, representing the police, told the judge when Bradley was arraigned. "He would like to have 10 days."

The judge accommodated him. "Are you satisfied?" he asked the prisoner.

"Yes, your honor," answered Bradley with a smile and fell in step with Brady on the march to the patrol car.

New Outbreaks In Strike Area

The Eastern Malleable Iron Co. at Naugatuck, Conn., affecting 500 workers.

Quebec Trouble

Nine hundred men were made idle by a strike of 500 of their number at the Dominion Textile Co. plant at Sherbrooke, Quebec.

Two more hosiery mills closed in Berks county, Pennsylvania, bringing the total to 19 and the total number of employees affected to more than 8,000.

At Billerica, Mass., twelve employees of the Talbot Worsted Mills struck for higher wages. The mill employs about 300.

In Lawrence, Mass., Anthony Valente, secretary-treasurer of the Federation of Woolen and Worsted Workers of America, a C. I. O. affiliate, reported demands for a 20 per cent wage increase, with an $18 minimum and a 35-hour week, would be presented to Lawrence mill owners in the near future. Meanwhile, he said, a drive was on to organize Lawrence textile workers.

Wage Increase

The J. F. McIlwain Shoe Company, employing 4,000 in Nashua and Manchester, N. H., announced a five per cent wage increase effective immediately. This company also gave a five per cent increase last January.

A sit-down strike of nearly 600 employees of the Wayport Manufacturing Co. at Central Falls, R. I., came to an end near noon after the management announced the plant would be closed down immediately and the employees could "sit." The strike began early today.

More than 400 employees of the Chickasaw Wood Products Company at Memphis, Tenn., walked out, demanding a ten per cent increase in wages.

Cannery Strike

The Gem society of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church will hold a cannery-shower sale beginning at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning in the Farworth Hall.

Candy Kids Organize

The Candy Kids have the honor of organizing the first local boycott of the season and are now looking for opposition. Vincent Grant of George Herbeck will take care of any down wishing to meet the Candy Kids.

MODERN GALLERY

Earlier Check on Taxes This Year

Washington, March 11 (AP)—Treasury officials said today revenue agents would get around earlier than usual this year to check up on income tax returns.

Field examinations will begin July 1 and will take 12 months to complete. The examinations were not started until the next January 1, but an increase in personnel made possible the advance.

It will take three and a half months to audit the 6,000,000 returns expected by the deadline Monday. Those showing incomes above $5,000 will be sent to Washington, and those under that figure will be retained by collectors in the field.

After examination here, every personal return on incomes in excess of $25,000 and every corporate return on incomes over $75,000 will be returned to field agents for routine investigation.

Personal returns between the $5,000 and $25,000 levels will be examined by bureau auditors to determine if investigation is advisable. Deductions will be studied and the returns will be compared with "information" returns filed by corporations. The latter list payments of wages and salaries to individuals.

As a result of investigations in the last fiscal year, $222,099,000 additional taxes were assessed.

In 1908 the United States war department accepted delivery of a Wright biplane, the first military airplane in the world and the first plane to be operated by any government.

Mayor Proclaims V. of A. Tag Days To Aid Day Nursery

As proclaimed by Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman Friday and Saturday will be tag days for the Volunteers of America, the organization that conducts the day nursery in the former Peter Darmann residence on Darmann Avenue.

In his proclamation, the mayor urged that this organization be supported for the work it is doing in the way of helping parents, who have to leave their small children some place while they go out to work.

Mrs. Etta Noble, in charge of the home, said that from 15 to 20 children are cared for at the nursery while their mothers, or fathers, go to work.

A small amount is charged, 10 cents a day, not that it even feeds the little ones, but makes the parents or parents feel more independent. However, those unable to pay are not turned away from the nursery with their children.

"Look," said Mrs. Noble to a reporter, showing him the play room and various other parts of the home, "don't all of these little ones seem happy and contented?" And they did playing with numerous toys.

The kindly lady explained about special care given to undernourished children, and some who are afflicted.

"We pay special attention to the diet," she said, "and see that nourishing food is had by each baby. They all get their share of milk, too, and afternoon naps to make them strong."

Jamaica, we gather from a traveler's account, is a terrible disappointment to gardeners. Nature does so wonderful a job that man never has a chance.

Vandenbush, Aides Plead to Robbery of Bank at Katonah

White Plains, N. Y., March 11 (AP)—Merle Vandenbush, designated by "G-Men" as "Public Rat No. 1," and his two companions entered pleas of guilty in County Court today to indictments charging robbery of a Katonah, N. Y. bank.

The pleas came unexpectedly after the three prisoners were ushered into court from the county jail at East View.

All three had pleaded innocent, although the $17,600 loot was found in their car when the three were captured by "country cops."

George Rera, owner and driver of the car, broke the united front of the defense by changing his plea to guilty, and this unexpected move caused the calling of a court recess to determine the course of the remaining defendants.

At the conclusion of the recess, both Vandenbush and Anthony Rera changed their pleas to guilty.

Legislature May Recess in 10 Days

Albany, March 11 (AP)—Possibility that New York's legislature may recess a week or ten days late this month was disclosed today by Democratic Leader John J. Dunnigan.

The recess, if taken, would begin about March 21 and extend over Good Friday and Easter, Dunnigan said.

That a recess is being considered was made known during discussion of a proposal to extend the life of a legislative committee which recently conducted state-wide hearings to sound out sentiment as to the future of state milk control.

Dodd Instructed to Make U. S. Retort To Nazi Criticism

Washington, March 11 (AP)—Secretary Hull today instructed Ambassador William E. Dodd at Berlin to make vigorous representations to the German foreign office concerning recent articles appearing in the German Press about the United States.

The secretary of state recently apologized formally to the German embassy here for remarks made by Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York in which LaGuardia referred to Chancellor Hitler as a "brown-shirted fanatic."

LaGuardia's statements, made before the women's section of the American Jewish Congress, evoked a deluge of criticism from the German press in which LaGuardia not only was attacked but American institutions and Jewish women also were named.

This press campaign was called to Secretary Hull's attention by Mrs. Stephen S. Wise, wife of the noted Jewish rabbi and chairman of the women's section of the American Jewish Congress.

Her formal letter prompted Secretary Hull to dispatch immediate orders to Ambassador Dodd to express "emphatic comment" to the German foreign office and to say the United States government was amazed at the fierceness of the German press attack.

It was understood that recent articles published by Der Angriff, a leading Berlin journal, were particularly offensive to American officials.

Mrs. Delafield In Critical Condition

New York, March 11 (AP)—Mrs. Ruth Manierre Delafield, 33, a former President of the Junior League here, was reported in a critical condition at the Neurological Institute of the Medical Center today from a bullet wound in the right temple.

Detective Lieut. Thomas Hanigan, who investigated after her mother, Mrs. Cornelia Lockwood Manierre, found her lying unconscious yesterday across a chaise longue in her apartment on Park Avenue, said the wound had been self-inflicted.

Mrs. Delafield was formerly the wife of Lewis L. Delafield, Jr., counsel for the tri-borough bridge authority.

Lieut. Hanigan said Mrs. Delafield had been under treatment for a nervous breakdown. She was scheduled to sail for Europe with her mother next Friday.

modern China where roving warlords keep the populace in a constant state of fear. Into the intrigue of civil war comes an American, bent on halting a shipment of arms to one of the powerful generals. The situations are models of suspense as the main characters buck their way through a plot of electrifying interest. The work of

Sights And Sounds

By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—In a couple of weeks the romantic spotlight will flash on young Tyrone Power's face and probably find it very red.

That is when Sonja Henie is due to return from the east, and when Tyrone will have some explaining to do—in person, and face to face.

Already, over long distance telephone when Sonja called, Tyrone has blamed on the publicity department the romantic rumors linking him with Loretta Young. But he has kept on escorting Loretta... well, at least once since Sonja called.

Marries On Impulse

Mary Astor said her decision to marry Manuel del Campo in a Yuma elopement (instead of waiting) was just "impulsive." Her return to Hollywood bore her out. Stepping from the chartered airplane to deny she was married, she found her husband contained neither nickel nor stick. She borrowed lipstick from a newspaper girl, and also a nickel for coffee.

A movie actress occasionally may find herself without coffee coin, but when she is traveling sans lipstick you may be sure she didn't intend to travel far. What happened was that she went down to the airport to see del Campo off... and obeyed that impulse.

No Smoking

Those two dressing rooms that couldn't be closer together on the set of "This Is My Affair" belong to the co-stars, Taylor and Stanwyck. Ann Harding's former dressing rooms on the RKO lot now are occupied by the studio legal department. The "No Smoking" signs on sound stages still mean it. Those butts you see lying around are just reminders.

Alice Faye and Simone Simon, who hadn't met each other until the other evening, have become chums. It started at the Trocadero, when Simone was sitting at a table near the dance floor and pouting as usual, and Alice danced by and threw her a flip comment. Simone thought it over, then went to Alice's table and struck up a gabfest. And Alice's remark? Just this: "You'd better pull in that lip or it'll fall off."

Posed for His Statue

Sure to Be Remembered

The life-size statue of a modern Elijah who had it placed beside his grave so future generations could see what he looked like is to be seen in a rural cemetery near Maple Rapids, Mich., correspondent in the Detroit Free Press.

The statue is that of Elijah Elsworth, who died in 1906 at the age of seventy-seven. He was the last of his family and, according to local legend, conceived the idea of the statue so that his friends and those who came after them would not forget his appearance.

The name of the sculptor has been forgotten but it is said that Elsworth either sold his forty-acre farm or willed it to the artist to pay for the monument.

Elsworth set for the designing of the strange figure, which depicts him clothed in flowing robes like those which his Biblical namesake might have worn. His feet are bare and in his left hand he holds a palm branch, adding a final touch to the Biblical allusion.

One hundred and sixty-five persons were convicted of robbing forest fires in California during 1936.

Broadway: "We Who Are About to Die." Penned by a man in the death house at California while awaiting his turn to die, this movie is a true case history of death as it is anticipated by human beings who must pay the penalty for murder. A best selling novel, the screen play has been somewhat altered into a melodrama of unusual power and its climax is reached when the man is found not guilty of his crime. A cautious blend of fact and fancy, this problem picture is tense, gripping screen fare. The cast includes John Beal, Preston Foster and Ann Dvorak.

Kingston: "Arizona Mahoney" and "Criminal Lawyer." Another of Zane Grey's prolific tales of the west becomes fairly adequate screen fare with the humorous Joe Cook in the starring role. It's the story of a funny man who changes the standards of the Arizona cattle country. "Criminal Lawyer" is the other feature, a story of vice and the law with Lee Tracy and Margot Grahame featured.

Orpheum: "The General Died at Dawn." Clifford Odette's first effort in picture dramatics is a skillful, terrorizing and eminently successful piece of writing. The youthful Broadway playwright has achieved a signal triumph in this story of

LIVE BUSINESS MEN ADVERTISE IN THE FREEMAN

Elephant Treasures Her Mate's Tusk as Heirloom

We human beings often keep treasured mementoes of loved ones who have died. It has been discovered that beasts of the jungle will do precisely the same thing and go to no end of trouble to carry home a relic from a dead mate, states a writer in Pearson's Weekly.

A game ranger at Nairobi (Kenya), had been out with his men chasing poachers and they recovered a quantity of ivory from them.

While the porters were bringing in this ivory (consisting of elephants' tusks) a herd of elephants charged and the porters had to flee.

Then a cow elephant seized a 40 pound tusk and carried it away. Native trackers followed her all day until they lost her in the darkness. But she never parted with the tusk.

Sometimes she stopped to feed and put the tusk down, but she always took it up again and continued her journey.

It has long been known that an elephant will go to the aid of a wounded companion, but this is the first known instance of an elephant cherishing a relic from its dead mate. A well-known elephant hunter in the district says he believes the cow elephant recognized the tusk by its smell as one which had belonged to her mate, and was taking it to her favorite feeding ground where she would probably bury it.

DENIES HIS PLAN ATTACKS COURT

President Roosevelt, shown in a "fireside chat" from the White House, asserted the Supreme Court had "improperly set itself up" as a "super legislature." He also said: "This plan of mine is no attack on the court; it seeks to restore the court to its rightful and historic place in our system of constitutional government." (Associated Press Photo)

Lawmakers Study Bill to Ban Sale of Child-Made Goods

Albany, March 11 (AP)—Bipartisan support developed unexpectedly in New York's legislature today for legislation designed to outlaw sale and production of child labor-made goods within the state as a substitute for ratification of the Federal Child Labor Amendment.

Declaring ratification "is now out of the question," Republican Assemblyman Abbot Low Moffat tossed the measure before the larger branch of the legislature simultaneously with an announcement by Democratic Senator Joseph D. Nunan that he will sponsor similar legislation in the Senate.

Both Moffat and Nunan, New York city lawmakers, voted for ratification.

Their action came swiftly after Assembly rejection Tuesday of the proposal for ratification, five weeks after the Senate gave approval. Thus far, 28 of the necessary 36 states have ratified.

Moffat's proposal received immediate support of Republican State Chairman William S. Murray, who said "I believe it will appeal to all those who sincerely object to use of child labor in industry."

While pressing for immediate state legislation, Moffat said the Republican party would urge enactment of Rep. Robert Low Bacon's (R., N. Y.) proposal to prohibit transportation of child labor-made goods into any state where their sale is forbidden.

Capitol observers speculated as to whether Governor Lehman, who with President Roosevelt urged ratification by "our state," would renew his drive in appeals to the people such as last year in support of his social security and anti-union programs.

Moffat explained the purpose in introducing his bill "is to secure the enactment of valid legislation which I believe will, within the shortest possible time and by the most practical route, solve the child labor problem." It would become effective next January 1.

Previously, measures similar in wording were introduced by Assemblyman Jane H. Todd, Westchester county, and Herbert Brownell, Jr., New York city, both Republicans. Moffat contended "they do not so completely comply with the necessary legalities."

Mystery Epidemic Often Wipes Out Arctic Dogs

One of the strange, unaccountable happenings of the North is the dog disease which sweeps across the entire Arctic and sub-Arctic every few years, wiping out hundreds of dogs. These epidemics leave natives and whites in a precarious position, for without dogs hunting and traveling in the Arctic are impossible. When the dog disease sweeps the Arctic the natives die in large numbers from starvation.

The causes of this strange malady are unknown, though research scientists have been working on it for some years, states a writer in Pearson's London Weekly. How the epidemic starts or where it comes from is a mystery. The first symptoms are always the same. First the animals have a heavy discharge from eyes and nostrils. This is followed after a few days by loss of appetite. Another few days brings paralysis of the hind quarters, and then death. In some cases the dog yelps for a day or two and furtively bites at its stomach as though it suffers pain or irritation there. Some dogs will snap at other dogs. In 90 per cent of the cases the sickness proves fatal, not even "sickroom" care bringing them through.

If this sickness comes while a traveler is on the trail his dogs will die before he can reach his destination, and he stands every chance of perishing from starvation.

Weather Signs

The sky is an excellent weather prophet, and seldom errs. This will be proved, says a writer in Pearson's London Weekly, if the following signs are watched closely:—A red eastern sky in the morning means rain and high wind to follow, but a red western sky in the morning is a sign of fine weather. An evening red sky in the east invariably means fine weather, but evening red in the west is usually followed by fog and frost. A ring around the moon is almost a sure sign of a storm, and a ring round a weak sun generally precedes a downfall of snow.

Poughkeepsie Jinx Smashed As Maroon Scores 40-28 Victory

Poughkeepsie High School's career fell by the wayside by a 40-28 margin as the rampaging Maroon and White basketball brigade marched to its 15th consecutive victory last night at the Bridge City armory. The red raiders notched their second win of the season over the Remmen before a good-sized gathering, as they broke a long standing jinx. Gaining an early lead, the locals shattered a five-year series of upsets and smashed the traditional hoodoo of the dimly-lit armory court. Flashing brilliant form after the first frame, the Klasmen pierced the blue and white defense for a barrage of lay-up shots. Poughkeepsie gave the locals a taste in the previous 20-17 duel at the auditorium but last night was Kingston's night all the way.

Charlie Bock put on another gilded exhibition of sharpshooting to top the scoring honors with six neat deuces and three aces for a total of 15 points.

Poughkeepsie's defense held Bock to nine markers in the initial tussle but Charlie crashed the double-figure column once again last night with a well-groomed performance. Tommy Maines flashed his best form in recent starts with a nine point effort, to corral runner up honors for the Klasmen. Maines outmaneuvered Meara under the basket with a trio of lay-ups and corded three free throws in a classy display from the center post. The big blond-haired pivoter outplayed Meara by a wide margin as he hit the heights. Eddie Bahl, red-shirted leader, chimed in with three deuces and a singleton for seven markers and in another grade A display with Al Bruce ripping in five tallies during the first half in one of his copyright relief roles.

Coach Kias had his regular starting lineup intact with the exception of the left guard slot which saw Meara opening in place of Fergel. Fergel entered midway during the first frame and held away until the start of the fourth stanza when he was ejected via the personal foul route. Bruce entered at halftime as relief for Rowland and immediately made his presence felt with two dazzling one-handed hook shots, and added a foul later for a 5 point effort. Coach Bill Rex thrust eight cagers into the contest in an effort to throttle the red shirted rampage but Kingston was creating the cords with uncanny accuracy and held a good sized margin throughout the fray. Kingston's fast break clicked nearly on numerous occasions and the criss-cross maneuver caught the bridge city cagers napping as the locals sailed through for easy lay-ups. Poughkeepsie threatened at the start of the last quarter but Kingston throttled the spurt and drew away handsomely to win by a 12 point margin.

Scoring by Periods
Kingston, with Maines dominating the attack during the early stages, drew away for an 8-2 edge at the close of the first quarter. Bock and Bahl took control of the situation and netted a duo of deuces as the Klasmen ran up a 19-8 margin at halftime. Bruce, Bock and Maines sailed through for a series of cut-ins and lay-ups as the red shirts pulled up at the three-quarter mark with a 20-16 lead. Burns and Bock sparked a desperate last quarter rally for the Remmen but the attack petered out towards the close and Kingston drew away when Bahl and Maines swept through for a trio of fast breaking lay-up shots just before the gun.

Big Cy Burns, powerhouse cager, was shifted to a back court position for a night and came through with a 15 point exhibit to pace the Poughkeepsians. Burns entered at the start of the second quarter and dominated his team's attack with 6 fields and three singletons to tie Bock for high scoring honors. Ray Bove, speedy sub left forward, corded 6 deuces and a foul for 7 tallies to collect secondary scoring honors for the Blue and White.

Game at Glance
Kingston outscored the bridge city basketweavers by a 16-11 margin from the field and collected 8 foul shots in comparison to the Remmen's 6 free throw efforts. Kingston displayed excellent form from the 15-foot stripe by racking up 8 out of 12 attempts with Poughkeepsie caging 6 out of 11 tries. Referee Stevens enforced a total of 23 penalties on the traditional rivals and was on the verge of enforcing a series of technical fouls on the rapidly cheering home-town crowd, midway in the fourth frame. With the Blue and White slowly overtaking the Remmen with a frantic rally, Bock was awarded two fouls to stop the spurt and the throng went wild. Referee Stevens demanded quiet before the game proceeded and the Poughkeepsie rooting section subsided. Action waxed plenty rough during the last frame and both teams committed numerous personal fouls with Fergel going out of action via the foul line ruling. Bill Tackacs, current scoring sensation of the Blue and White, was held to a lone field shot as Maroon defense throttled the Klasmen's shaggy streak at five points.

Kingston outscored Port Jervis on the tri-state court tomorrow evening in the 11th BUSO League contest in the final road game of the year. The Klasmen triumphed Port on the Jervis auditorium court by a 42-23 margin in the initial contest last month. Kingston will be showing its 1936-37 BUSO League pennant tomorrow night as a victory would mathematically clinch the championship. Kingston is the nearest competitor. Both incurred at least two fouls. Monticello gave Kingston its 1936-37 BUSO League title at the Auditorium on Friday, March 12.

Presbyterians Win Double Court Bill

The two Presbyterian basketball organizations, the Christian Endeavors and Christadelphians, won their games in the double-header basketball program at the Elmenor street court Tuesday evening.

In the initial clash, the Christian Endeavors opened up slowly but later gained speed, and with Bill Evans dropping in 8 points, they swept the Flying Dutchmen's defense for a neat triumph, 26-16.

The Christadelphian Varsity rolled over the Kingston Rollers, 39-16, when the visitors found themselves unable to stop Bill Maiseholder, who gleaned 14 markers.

Babe Ruth Picks Yankees to Repeat

New York, March 11 (AP)—Babe Ruth viewed the coming major league baseball races from a bunker along the St. Albans golf course today and predicted the New York Yankees and St. Louis Cardinals would win by at least a maishie shot.

"You can't beat that Yankee power," said the Babe. "They've got it from top to bottom. They may not win by as many games as they did last year, but they should win."

Asked if he picked the Yankees with or without holdout Lou Gehrig, the Babe dodged like a champion.

"I don't want to get into that Gehrig situation," he roared. "I never say anything about a ball player's personal affairs."

The Cleveland Indians, whose dexterity in dodging the American League pennant somehow astonishes him, is "the team the Yankees have to beat," he said. "How they keep from winning, I don't know. They've got power and they should have pitching, and that trade they made with the Browns should help them. I think Lyn Lary and Julius Solters will improve the team on the field."

Unlike most critics, Ruth doesn't give Detroit much of a chance. He points out several of their stars are about through, and doubts if Chet Laabs and Rudy York, two promising rookies from Milwaukee, can hold them up.

Washington, Boston and Chicago follow in order in his American League list, and he's willing to let the Fates, the Browns and the Athletics fight for seventh and eighth.

In the National League, after the Cards, he picks the Pittsburgh Pirates, New York Giants and Chicago Cubs in that order.

"The Giants are going to miss Bill Terry at first base," he said.

His fifth and sixth place predictions are the Cincinnati Reds and Boston Bees.

Andrews Slaps at Olympic Officials

Los Angeles, March 11 (AP)—A slap at Olympic officials with too great a "yen for world tours" and a plea for less "absurd" treatment of athletes was delivered here today by Lorrin Andrews, new chairman of the A. A. U. rules committee.

Andrews said his views about existing regulations were supported by answers to questionnaires he sent to sportsmen throughout the country shortly after being appointed rules chairman by Jeremiah T. Mahoney, A. A. U. president.

Declaring he had been called everything from a "publicity seeking old fool" to a "courageous progressive," the white haired Los Angeles attorney said his hope was to "give the A. A. U. back to the athletes."

"I have discovered that in nearly all cases those who have criticized me are men who have gone to the last several Olympiads at the expense of A. A. U. funds and who perhaps fear that their yen for world tours may suddenly fail to find the usual satisfaction in the form of a prepaid steamer ticket," he said.

Women Semi-Final Golf Tourney Today

Belleair, Fla., March 11 (AP)—Four "outsiders" met in the semi-finals of the Belleair women's golf tournament today.

Out of the running were Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, of Philadelphia, former national champion; Patricia Berg, of Minneapolis; Kathryn Hemphill, of Columbia, S. C., and Medalist Jane Coltran of Greenville, S. C.

Helen Dettweiler who gained a one-up edge over Mrs. Vare yesterday, met Goldie Bateson, of Milwaukee, who ousted Mrs. Lillian K. Zech of Chicago, 4 and 2, in one match. The other pitted Dorothy Traung of San Francisco, conqueror of Miss Hemphill in the astonishing score of 6 and 2, against Jean Bauer of Providence, R. I., winner over Mary K. Browne of Cleveland, former national tennis champion, one up in 19 holes.

Falcaro Is Hurt; May Not Bowl In ABC Tournament

New York, March 11 (AP)—Joe Falcaro, undefeated in match bowling titular competition, may be down but he's not out. Joe sprained his right wrist in an automobile accident on the eve of the opening of the 37th American Bowling Congress in the 212th Field Artillery armory last night, but he's just as cocky as ever. Despite his injury, Falcaro was scheduled to lead the George Washington Hotel team of New York, and compete in the singles and doubles on April 7. Because of his injury, officials have set back the date until April 29.

Only four perfect games out of more than 1,750,000 have been bowled in ABC history. Yet Falcaro has turned in 37 himself since he started to bowl at 11 years of age. He's now 14.

The tournament started on a high-scoring keynote last night when the Royal Recreation Club Five of Jersey City, N. J., took the early lead by scoring games of 966, 957 and 958 for a 2,881 total. Another Jersey City quintet, the Tioxa Club Pabst, finished second.

Celtics Last Period Rally Brings Colonial Defeat, 35-31

Pop Morgenweek's Kingston Colonials didn't have what it takes in their encounter with Kate Smith's emerald clad warriors Wednesday night at the Municipal Auditorium, and so went down to defeat, 35-31. Phil Rabin, American League high scorer, again led the pack with a total of 10 points, but in the third period when the Colonials needed his support he failed to connect. The story of that third period in which the locals were outscored, 15-5, and were unable to gain possession of the ball in the closing five minutes of play, is the tale of the Colonial defeat.

The opening whistle sounded and Al Kellett, Celtic center, tossed in a long shot from mid-court, his teammate Bass followed with a free throw to give the wearers of the green a three-point lead. Brown, Husta and Rabin tried to connect but were wild, and it remained for Tiny Hearn to drop in a nice back flip to start the Colonial scoring. Each outfit unleashed plenty of shots in this period and the passing was a bit ragged, but the closing whistle found the locals holding a three point lead by virtue of five fields and two foul tosses.

The second frame was a repetition of the first with wild heaves and inaccurate passing marking what might have been an exciting battle. Towards the end of the period, McGuirk, former Manhattan College star, entered the game for the Celtics and immediately the visitors began to show improvement, although the finish still found the emeralds three points behind.

The third period was decidedly different, and with McGuirk speeding up the offensive power, the Celtics started to go to town. It was not long before Al Kellett tied the score for the first time during the game, and McGuirk's foul put the visitors in the lead. Berenson, Johnson and McGuirk scored in quick succession, and then began a period of stalling that kept the ball from the hands of the Colonials in the closing minutes and gave the Celtics the game.

Jimmy Brown proved himself to be a fine running mate for Corky Stanton and these two should form a combination for a fast breaking outfit next season. Phil Rabin showed only periodic flashes of his scoring ability. Husta could not get his eye on the basket and so the Colonials checked in with another loss. Berenson and Johnson, both members of the former Visitation who at one time were contenders for the American League crown, again teamed together to lead Kate Smith's team to victory. Pete Barry, the grand old man of basketball and the one member of the original Celtics with the present combine, did not see action but directed play from the bench.

Wise Approves Attack

Buffalo, March 11 (AP).—Florence LaGuardia's verbal attack on Adolf Hitler had the approval today of Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, world-wide Jewish spokesman. "That was an accurate, truthful under-statement of fact," Dr. Wise said of the New York mayor's recent declaration that Hitler was a "brown-shirted fanatic menacing the peace of the world." "Anti-semitism is the most profitable racket in the world," Dr. Wise told the Men's Club of Temple Beth Zion here.

A process recently developed in Germany, which employs hydrogen peroxide for improving the quality of low-grade domestically produced pipe tobacco, is said to achieve that result without impairing its flavor.

SEAS EATING AWAY ENGLAND'S CLIFFS

Ominous Movement of Coasts Causing Alarm.

London.—Coincident with the startling news that Scotland is drifting westward at the rate of ten feet a year, there is a more realistic and ominous movement of the coasts of England. It is the crumbling of the cliffs—the "White Walls of England"—into the sea. A constant erosion is going on which is greatly accelerated in winters of high winds and tides, such as this winter has been. Just recently 20,000 tons of cliff fell on the beach at one place in Norfolk, carrying people, houses and cattle with it. On that same coast there are several small communities which have been forced to retreat inland by the undermining and encroachment of the sea. In other places, persons reluctant to lose their homes are undergoing the danger of being swept to death. On nights when there are gales they tremble to think that any moment everything they own and hold dear may start sliding into the sea.

In Yorkshire, between Flamborough and Spurn Head, the sea is regularly eating away fifteen feet of land a year. Thirty-five villages have been devoured by the waves. Selsey Bill, one of the promontories which tourists see as they approach or leave England, is another danger spot. Already it is four miles shorter than it was 100 years ago. Deserted houses on its furthest point are tottering on their foundations. Nothing known to science or engineering can stop the process for long. Concrete walls and fills have been swept away.

Insect Electrocuter Is Tested Over the World

Berkeley, Calif. — The electric light insect exterminator, designed by Professor William B. Herms and Joseph K. Ellsworth of the University of California, promises to take its place among the electric toaster, the electric iron and the electric razor.

The invention consists of a bulb that can be applied to any ordinary electric light socket. It attracts all varieties of insects, even mosquitoes, and when they approach, electrocutes them.

A few of the uses to which it is being applied, reported to the university from various parts of the world, are:

One theater in Madeira has added it to the decorations in its marquee to keep the insects from bothering patrons.

It has been installed at service stations to keep customers from being annoyed by insects while having their cars serviced.

It is being used over outdoor swimming pools and in illuminated gardens.

The light, which was invented especially as a protection against mosquitoes, has received so much attention that requests have come from as far as India and Africa for information on its manufacture and use.

U. S. Men's "Beauty" Bill Is $600,000,000 a Year

Chicago. — The American man spends about two-thirds the amount women do for "beauty aids," according to the results of a national survey announced here. While women are paying nearly $800,000,000 annually to beauty shops and for cosmetics, men are spending about $600,000,000 a year in barber shops and for shaving lotions, hair tonics, massages and manicures.

The nation's annual barber shop bill is reported to have dropped from $750,000,000 in 1926 to approximately $500,000,000 in 1936, yet the masculine use of other items to enhance the appearance of the face and hair has increased about 25 per cent.

On the basis of the 1930 census $16.21 a year is spent by the adult male for "beauty aids," as compared with the estimated $22.28 for women.

Mouse Scares Him, So Driver Crashes Truck

Marlin, Texas.—Damage to a truck, to a church column and to the nerves of the driver of the truck resulted from an exploration by a mouse.

As C. B. Eskridge started to turn a corner in his truck he became aware of something running up his leg "as large as a possum." He released the wheel and grabbed for the rodent. The truck swerved and ran across the curb, sidewalk, between trees and crashed into a large brick column of the First Methodist church.

The mouse escaped.

Naples Has Tomb but Lacks Soldier

Naples, Italy.—This is perhaps the only non-capital city in the world with a Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. One of the town's wealthy men had the tomb built for his own use. Later he was unable to get the ground consecrated, so he decided it to the city. It has been set aside as a tomb for an unknown soldier, but no soldier's body lies within.

Dr. Goldstein at Temple Emanuel

Dr. Sidney E. Goldstein will occupy the pulpit of Temple Emanuel on Friday evening, March 12. His subject will be "The Supreme Court and the Constitution." Dr. Goldstein was born on March 7, 1879, in Marshall, Texas. He was graduated from the University of Cincinnati with the degree of B.A. in 1904. He was graduated from the Hebrew Union College, Cincinnati, Ohio, with the degree of Bachelor of Hebrew Literature and Degree of Rabbi in 1905. He pursued graduate studies in the Social Sciences at the University of Cincinnati, University of Chicago and Columbia University. He has been associate rabbi and director of social service at the Free Synagogue, New York city, since 1907.

He is professor of social service at the Jewish Institute of Religion. Dr. Goldstein has specialized in the social sciences and has spent some time in Geneva studying the social problems with which the League of Nations deals. He has lectured on social questions both in colleges and forums throughout the country and is the author of "The Synagogue and Social Service," "The League of Nations and Grounds for Action in Behalf of Minority Groups," "The Motion Picture and Social Control," and a number of articles and pamphlets dealing with the family, economic organization and the political order.

He was chairman of the executive committee of the joint committee on unemployment from 1930-1934. He was chairman of the commission on social justice of the Central Conference of American Rabbis from 1934-1936. Dr. Goldstein is now chairman of the Commission on Marriage and the Family of the Central Conference of American Rabbis. He is also chairman of the New York State Conference on Marriage and the Family and chairman of the executive committee of the War Resisters League of America.

Famine Threatens 2 Million
Hankow, China, March 11 (AP).—The China International Famine Relief Commission reported today that famine threatened 2,000,000 persons in western Honan province. John Earl Baker of Eagle, Wis., executive secretary of the commission, said the condition resulted from poor crops last fall and extends over an area estimated at 3,000 square miles with a total population of 5,000,000.

A Personal File for Your Desk

Web Card Index Trays are used by thousands of office workers for the fast, efficient filing of personal data, such as commercial reports, employee records, credit, bills and quotations, sales, follow-up, mailing lists, confidential names, etc.

Problems and details find them fast for recording appointments, interviewing them, securing the leading broker, author, borrower's names and addresses, and statistics.

In the home they are widely used for recording income and expenses, filing cancelled checks, and for preserving records. Web makes a special outfit for this latter purpose.

Made of enameled hard-board, with or without bonded metal, these Web Card Index Trays are economical, sturdy, and give quick results of your work. Also complete folder outfit for small business concerns. Write to and ask for your free data.

Easy, Easier, Easiest
Records do not show how old the adage, "Easier said than done," may be, but as far back as 1564 occurs the sentence, "This thing is easier said of you, than proved." Proverbs, like idioms, have a way of confusing the grammarians. Easy, easier, and easiest have been used as adverbs since early times. A number of such usages are to be found in Shakespeare alone; for instance: "Love's Labour's Lost" (act v, sc. 1, l. 45): "Thou art easier swallowed than a flap-dragon"; "Merchant of Venice" (act i, sc. 2, l. 17): "I can easier teach twenty what were good to be done"; "Macbeth" (act ii, sc. 4, l. 38): "Least our old robes sit easier than our new." Among other adverbial users are: Spenser, Tucker, Byron, Smiles, Steele, Keats, and Mrs. Stowe. Some grammarians now condemn the use of easy as an adverb. One wonders why when our literature is so full of such usages; but despite their dicta, the adage, "Easier said than done," is still correct, and may justly be used as well as, "More easily said than done."—Literary Digest.

Cotton was harvested from 368,000 acres in California during 1936, a record production which returned growers $24,400,000 for line cotton and $7,128,000 for cotton seed.

This California Cottage Adopts A Colonial Touch

All rooms are on one floor in this California cottage, after the current trend in that state's small houses. The emphasis on colonial precedent, indicated by the formal doorway with its pediment, is a novel touch.

The large living room, with fireplace and bay window, serves as dining room and circulation to bedroom. All rooms have cross ventilation, and the bedroom has windows on three exposures.

There are two entrances at the rear, one for service and one to the garden.
